Captain America must go on the most dangerous mission of all—to stop the sinister Sleepers!

Many years ago, before he was defeated by Captain America, the villain known as the Red Skull secretly placed three hidden Sleepers somewhere in Germany!

Now, his agents are awakening them at last—preparing for The Day when the Red Skull will return to rule the world!

"Run! Now that the First Sleeper walks, there is no way to control it! Run!"

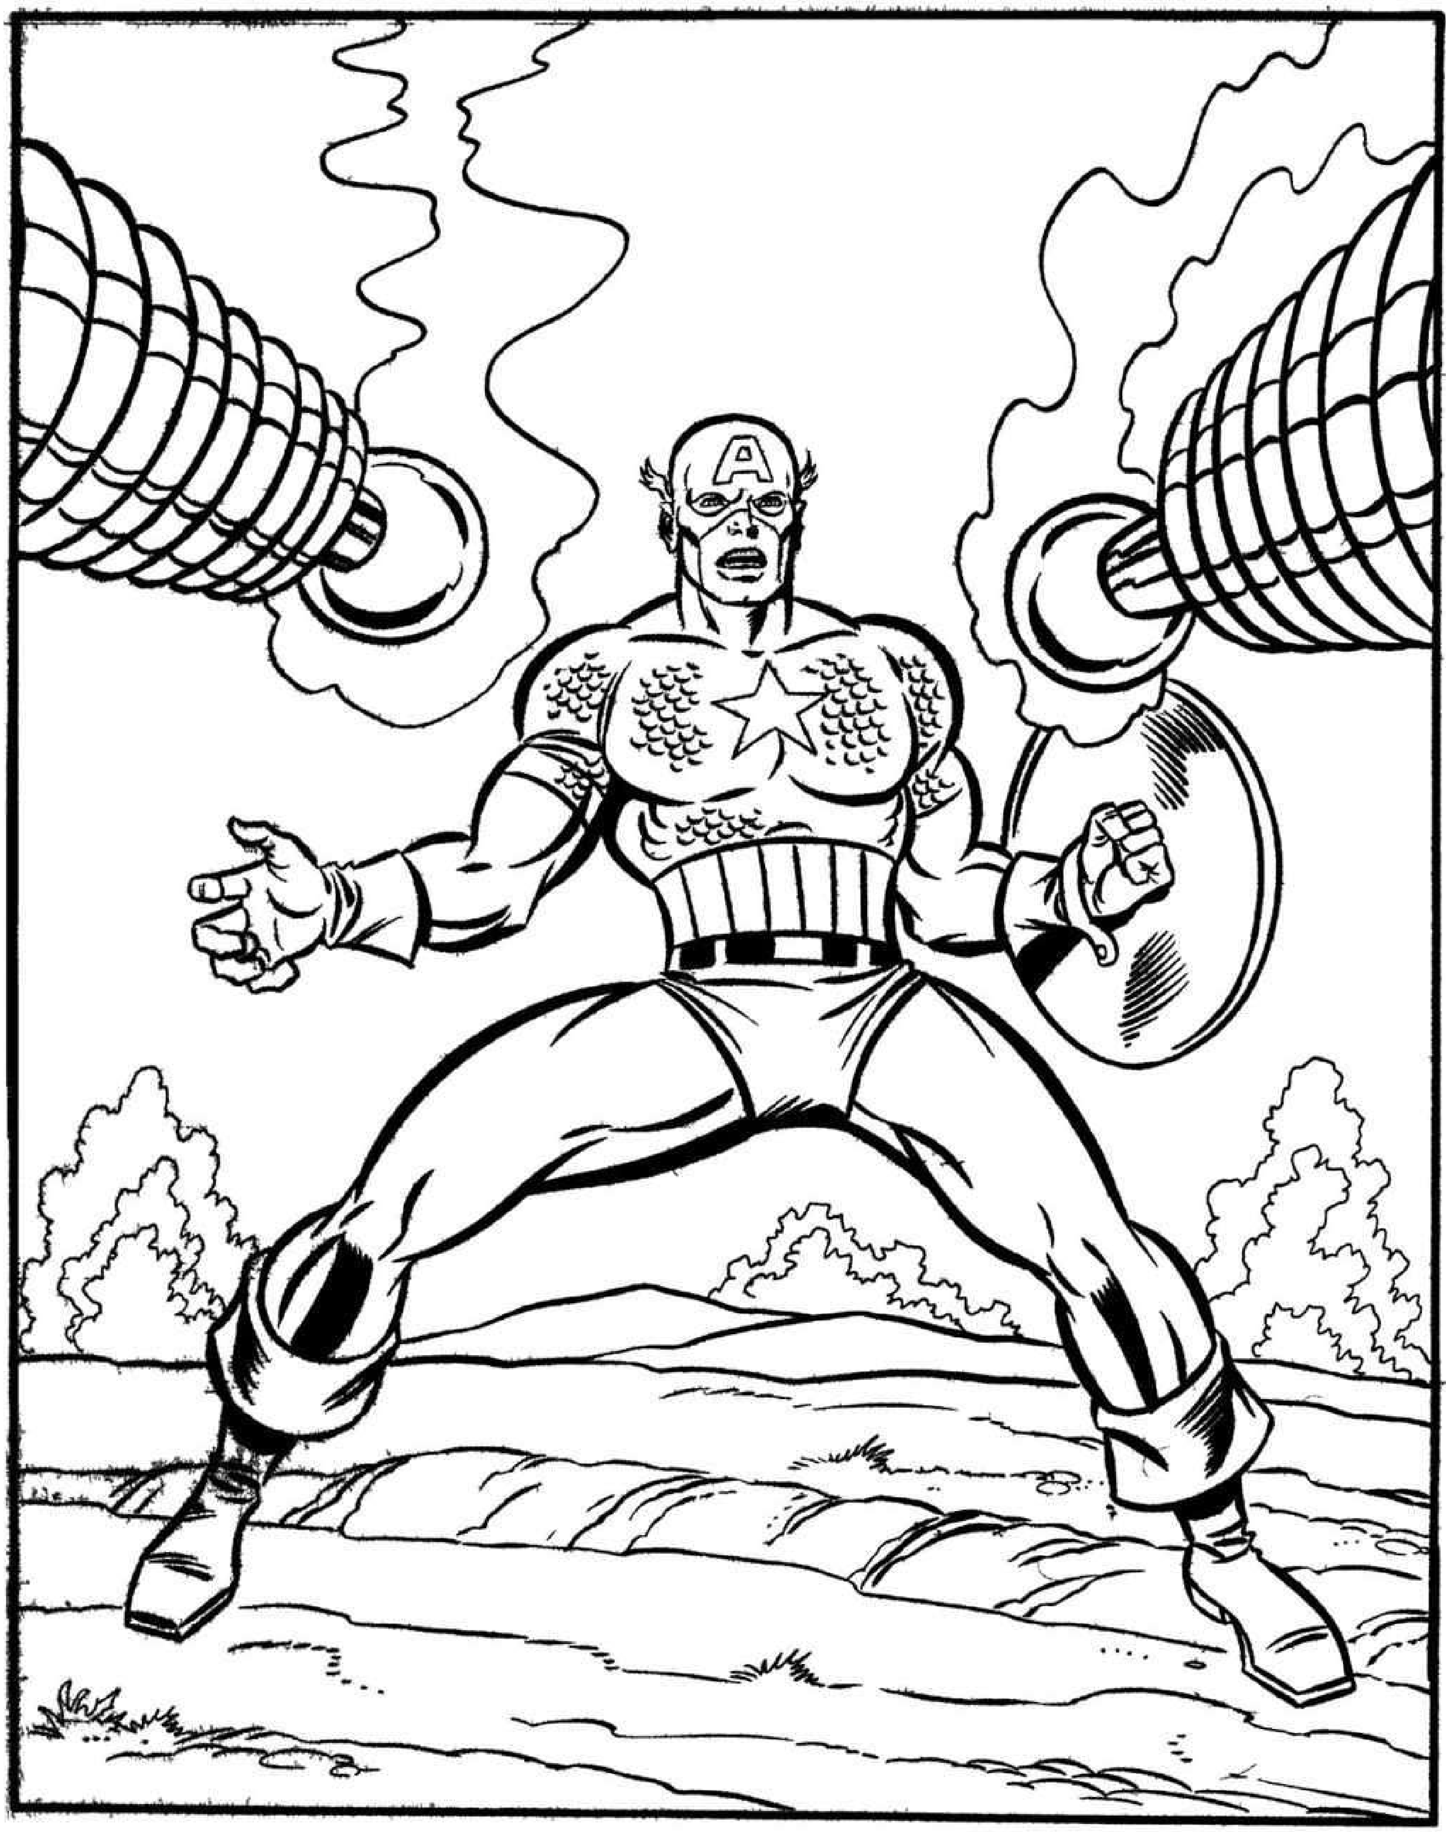

Meanwhile, high above the stormy Bavarian village, Captain America drops from an Air Force plane!

"The First Sleeper is free! It's destroying the village! I've got to stop the giant robot before it's too late!"

*"It's no use! I can't smash the controls in its head—because it's shatter proof!
Not even my shield can crack it!"*

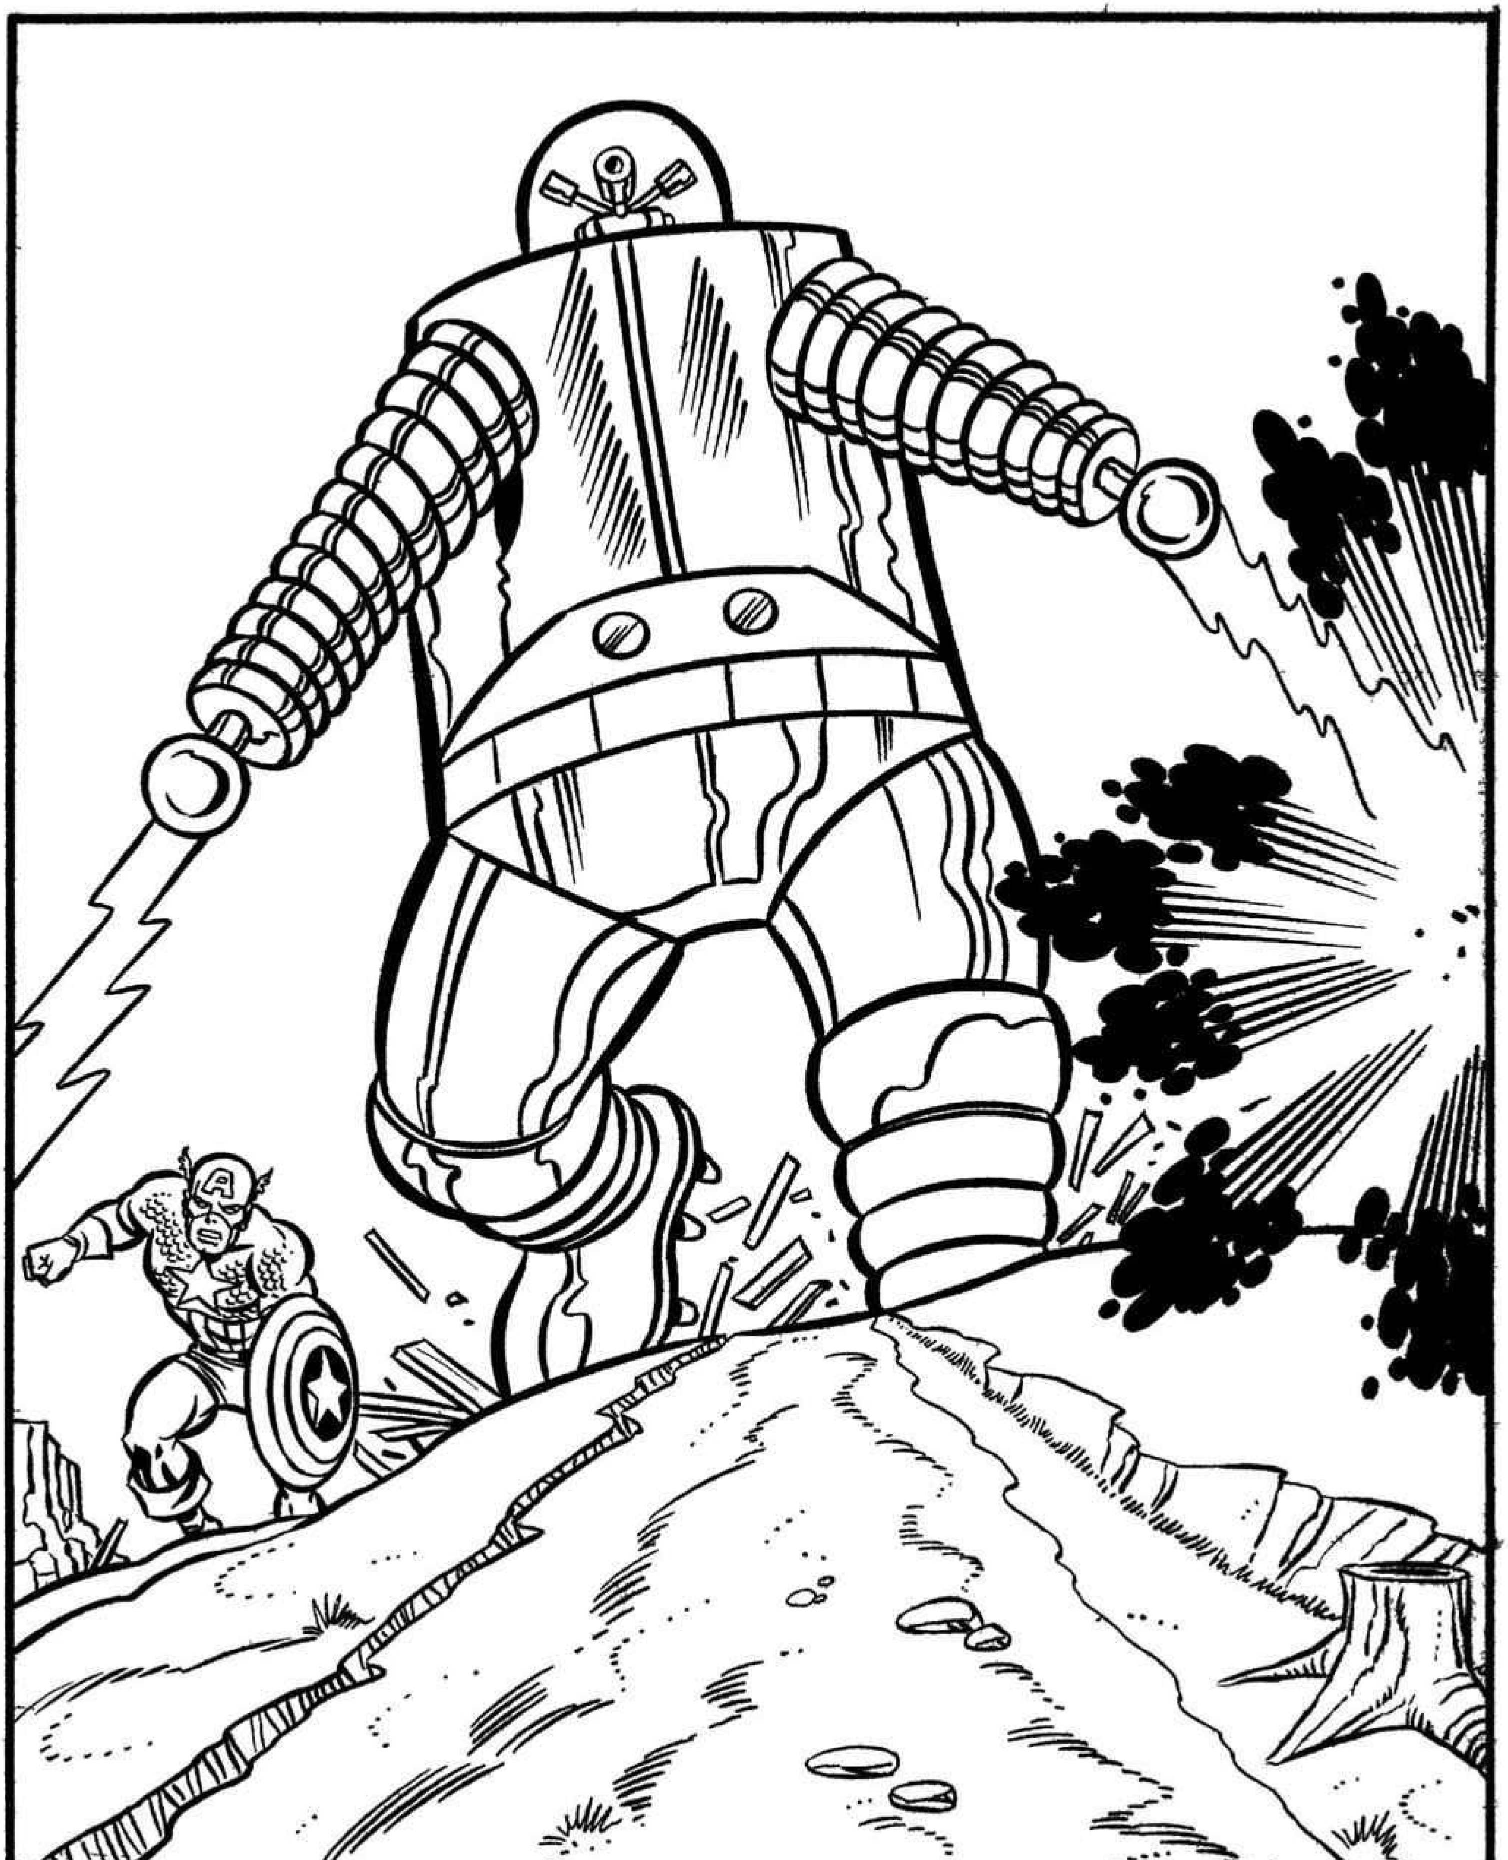

*"Now what's it doing? Pointing electrodes at me!
I've got to get out of the way!"*

"Whew! Just got out of the way in time!"

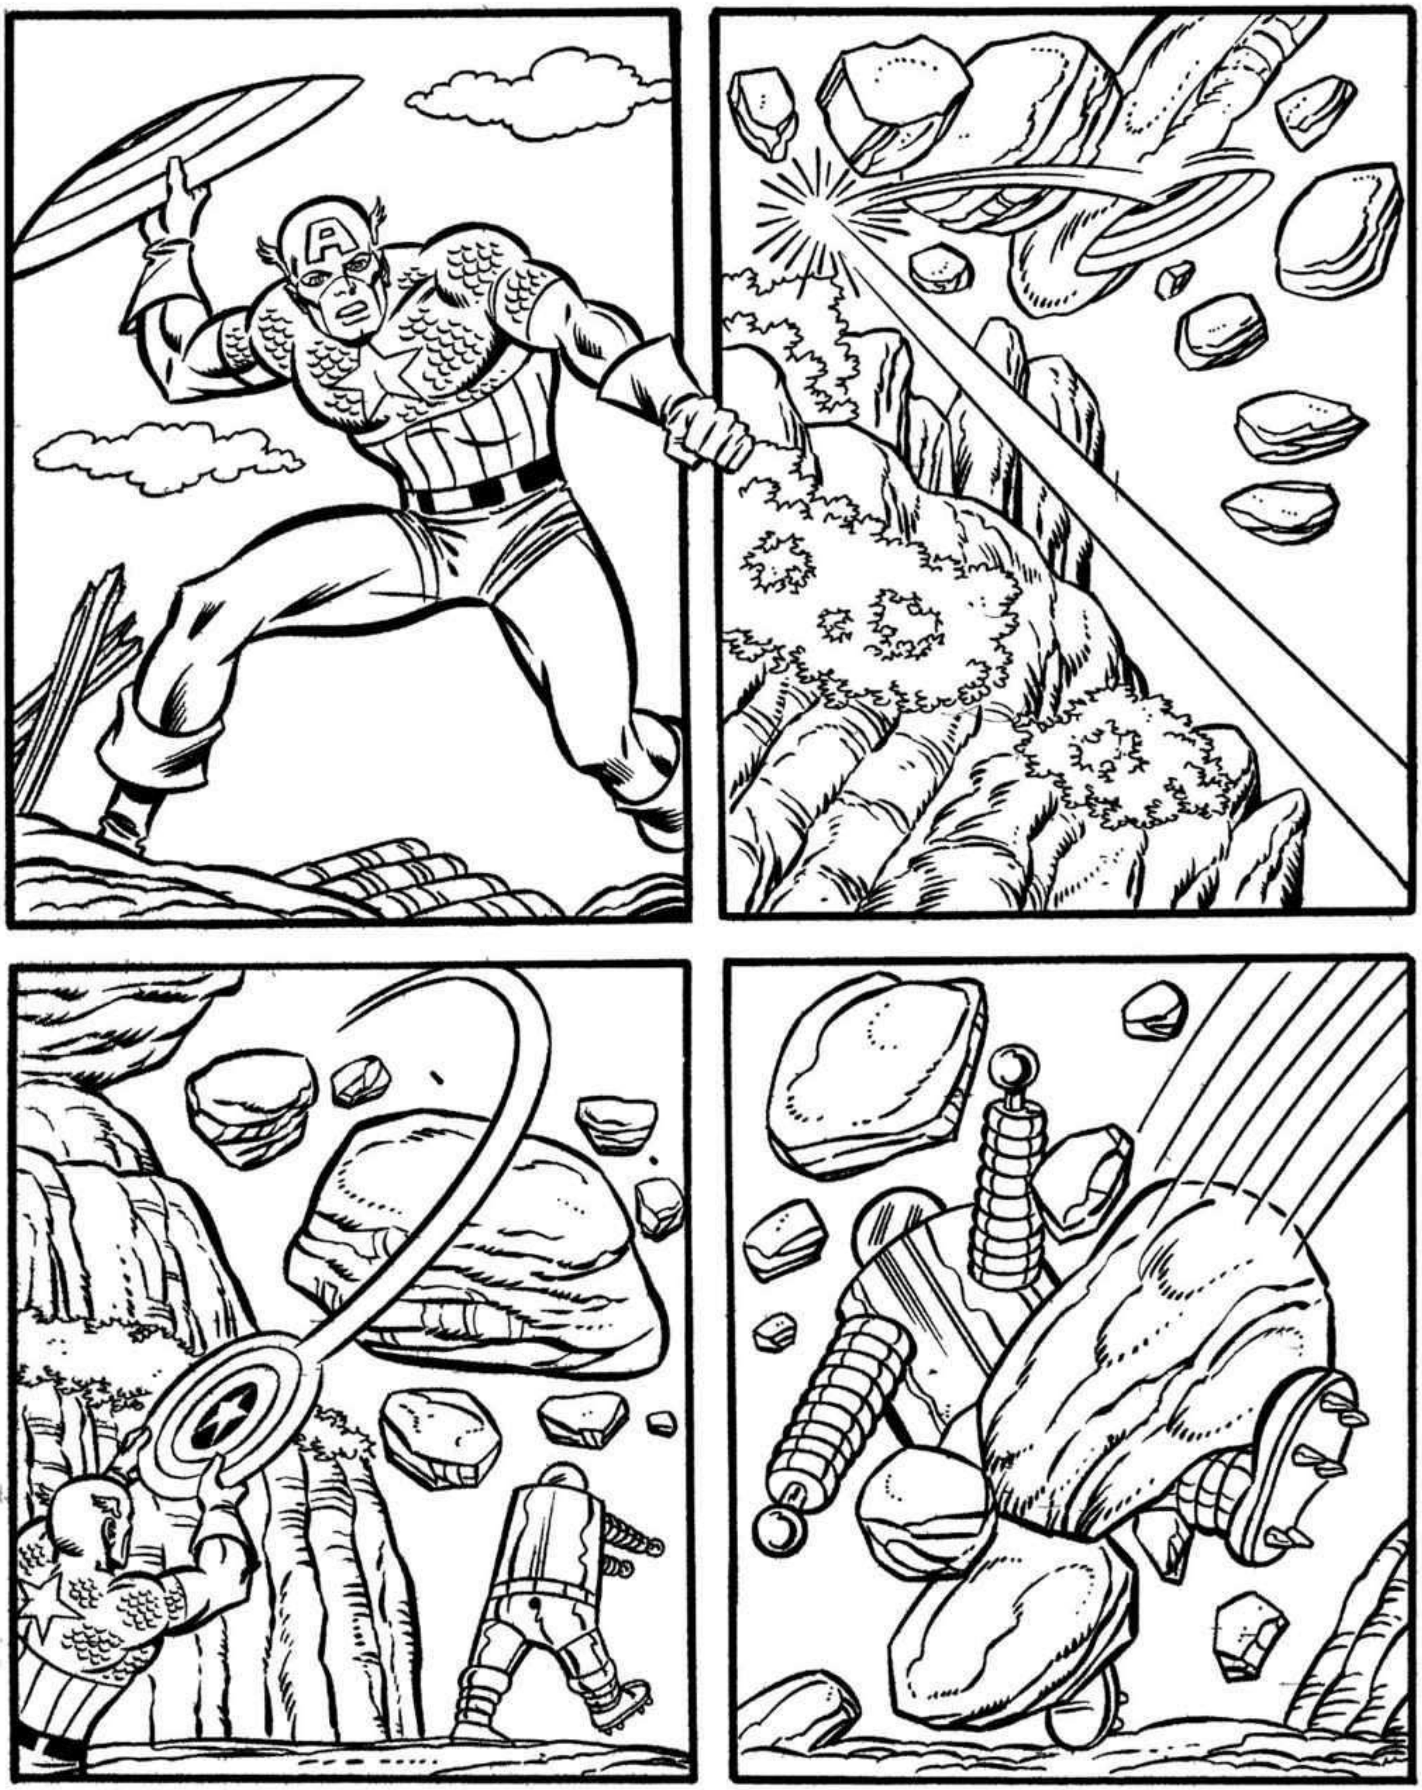

"And now it's walking right past me—as though I don't even exist! There's no stopping the First Sleeper!"

"But where's it going?" Where?!?"

"If it's on the way to join a Second Sleeper, the world may be doomed! I can't let that happen!"

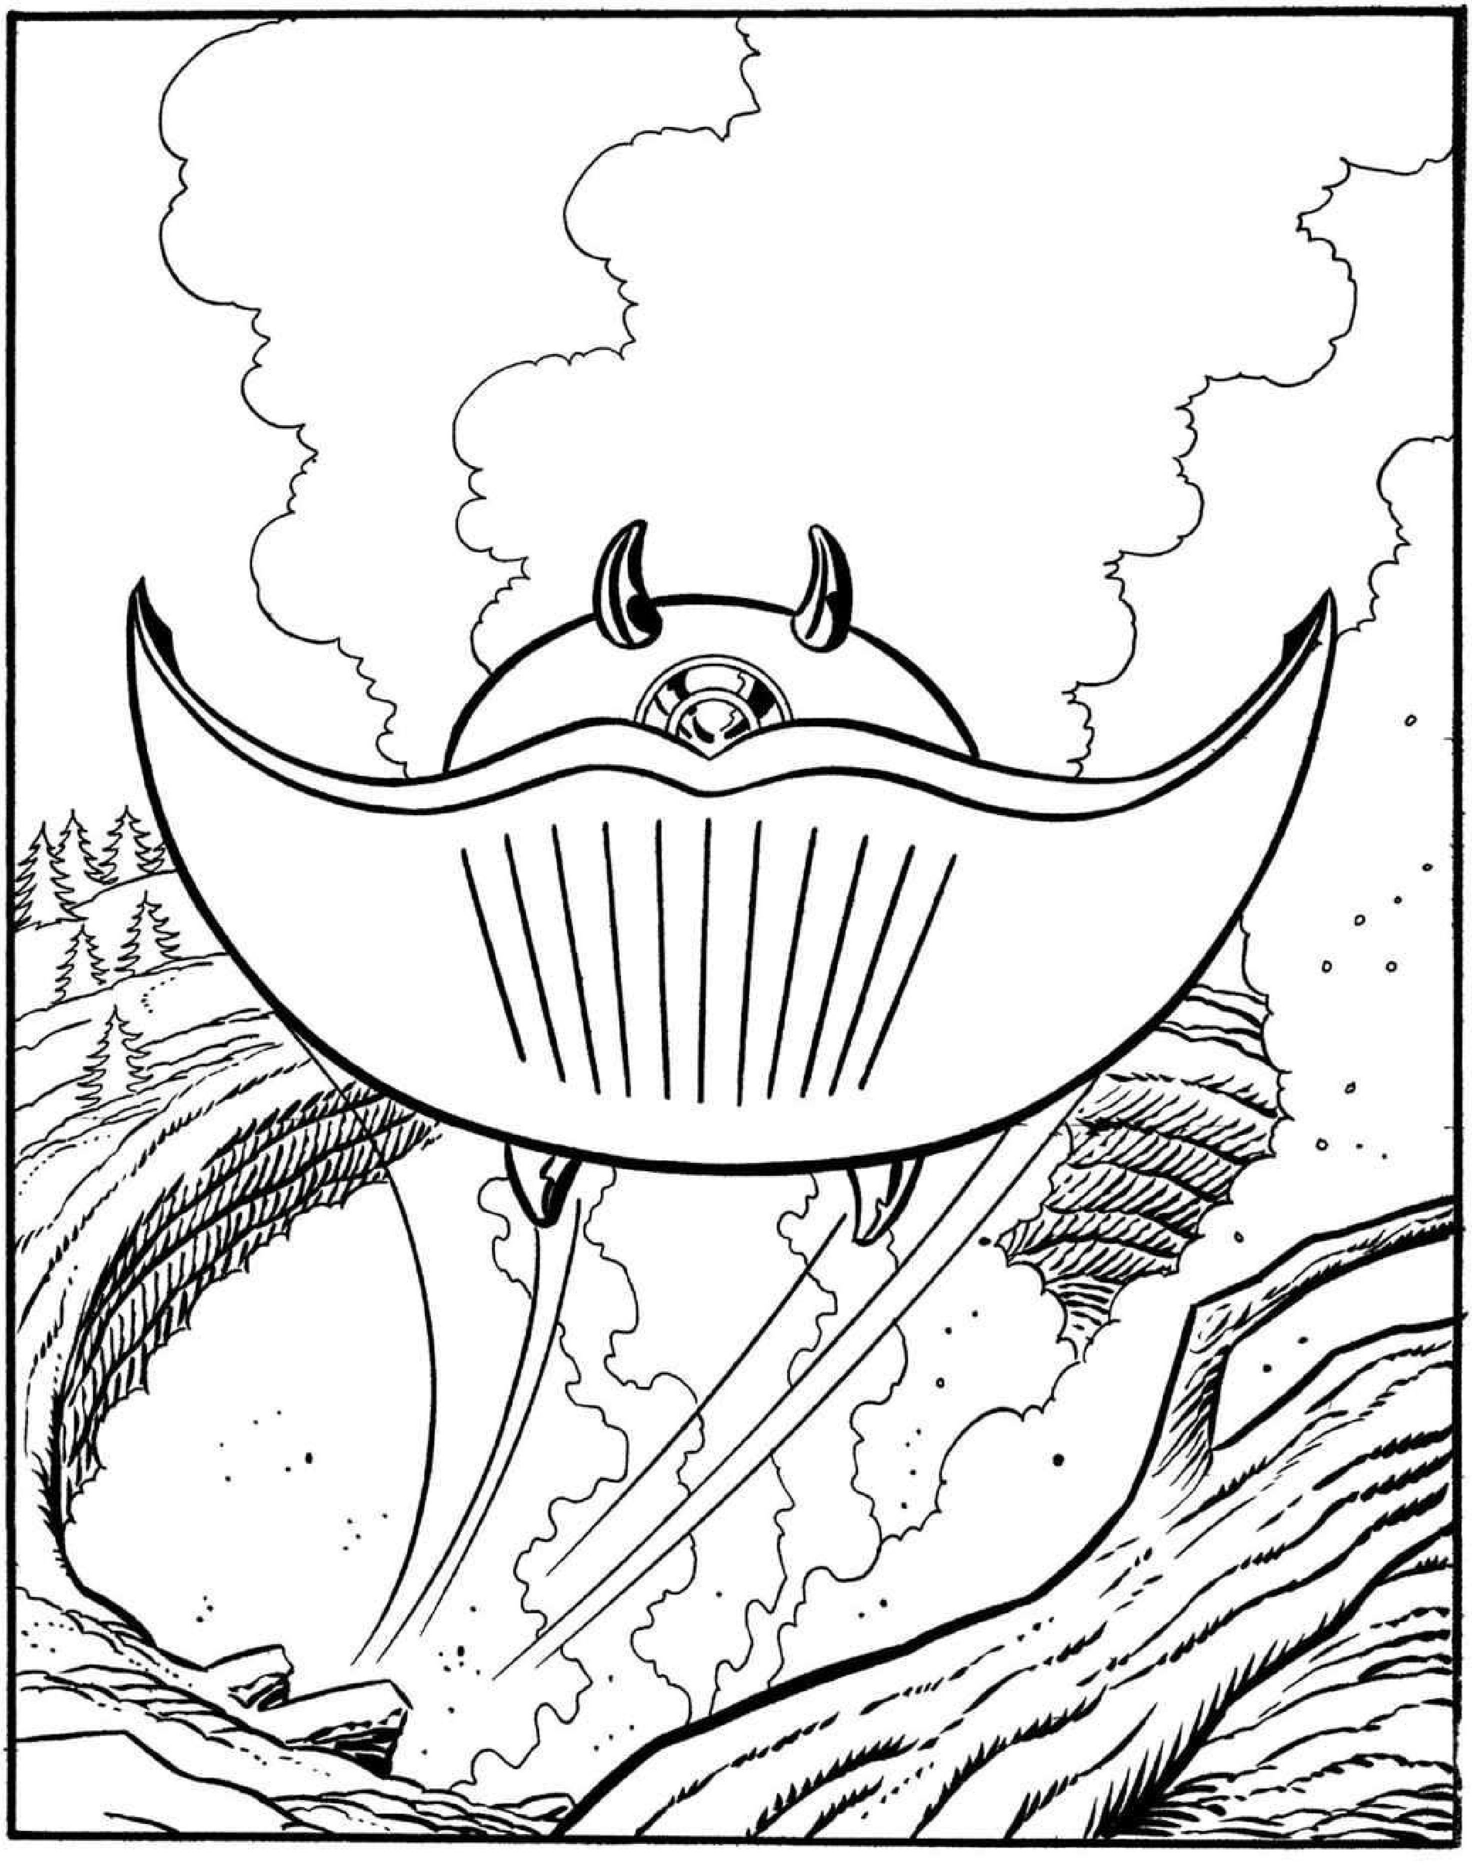

Captain America throws his mighty shield and starts an avalanche of rocks that soon bury the Sleeper!

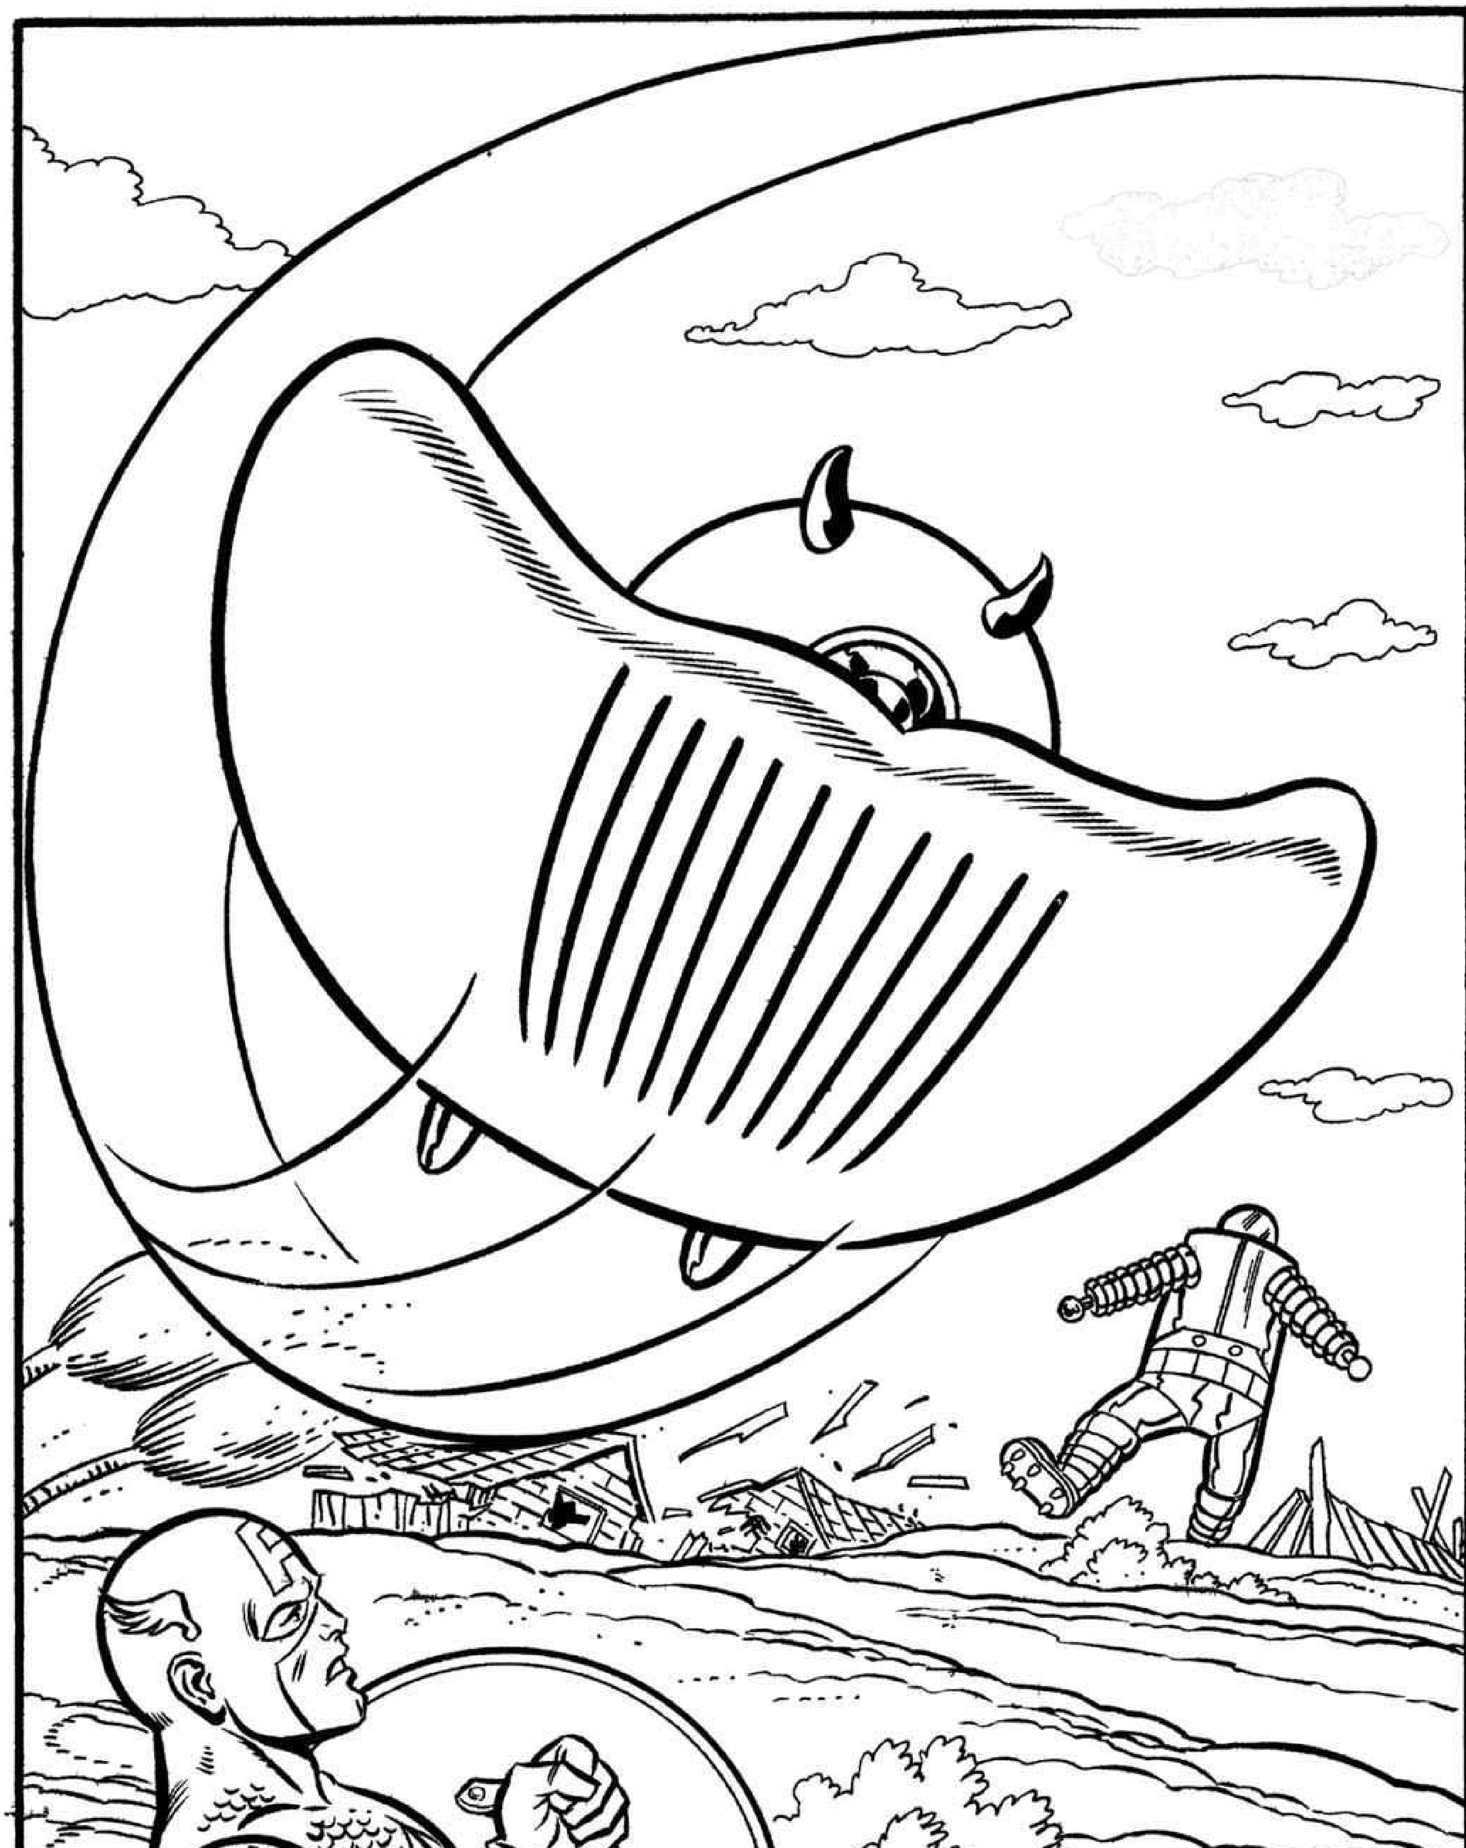

"It's blasting free! But it's just a machine, and there must be a way to keep fit from reaching the other two Sleepers! There must!"

Yet there isn't—for not far ahead some more of the Red Skull's agents are already releasing the Second Sleeper!

Like a gigantic devil-bat,
it comes out of the ground and hovers in the sky!
Then, slowly, the Second Sleeper begins to move!

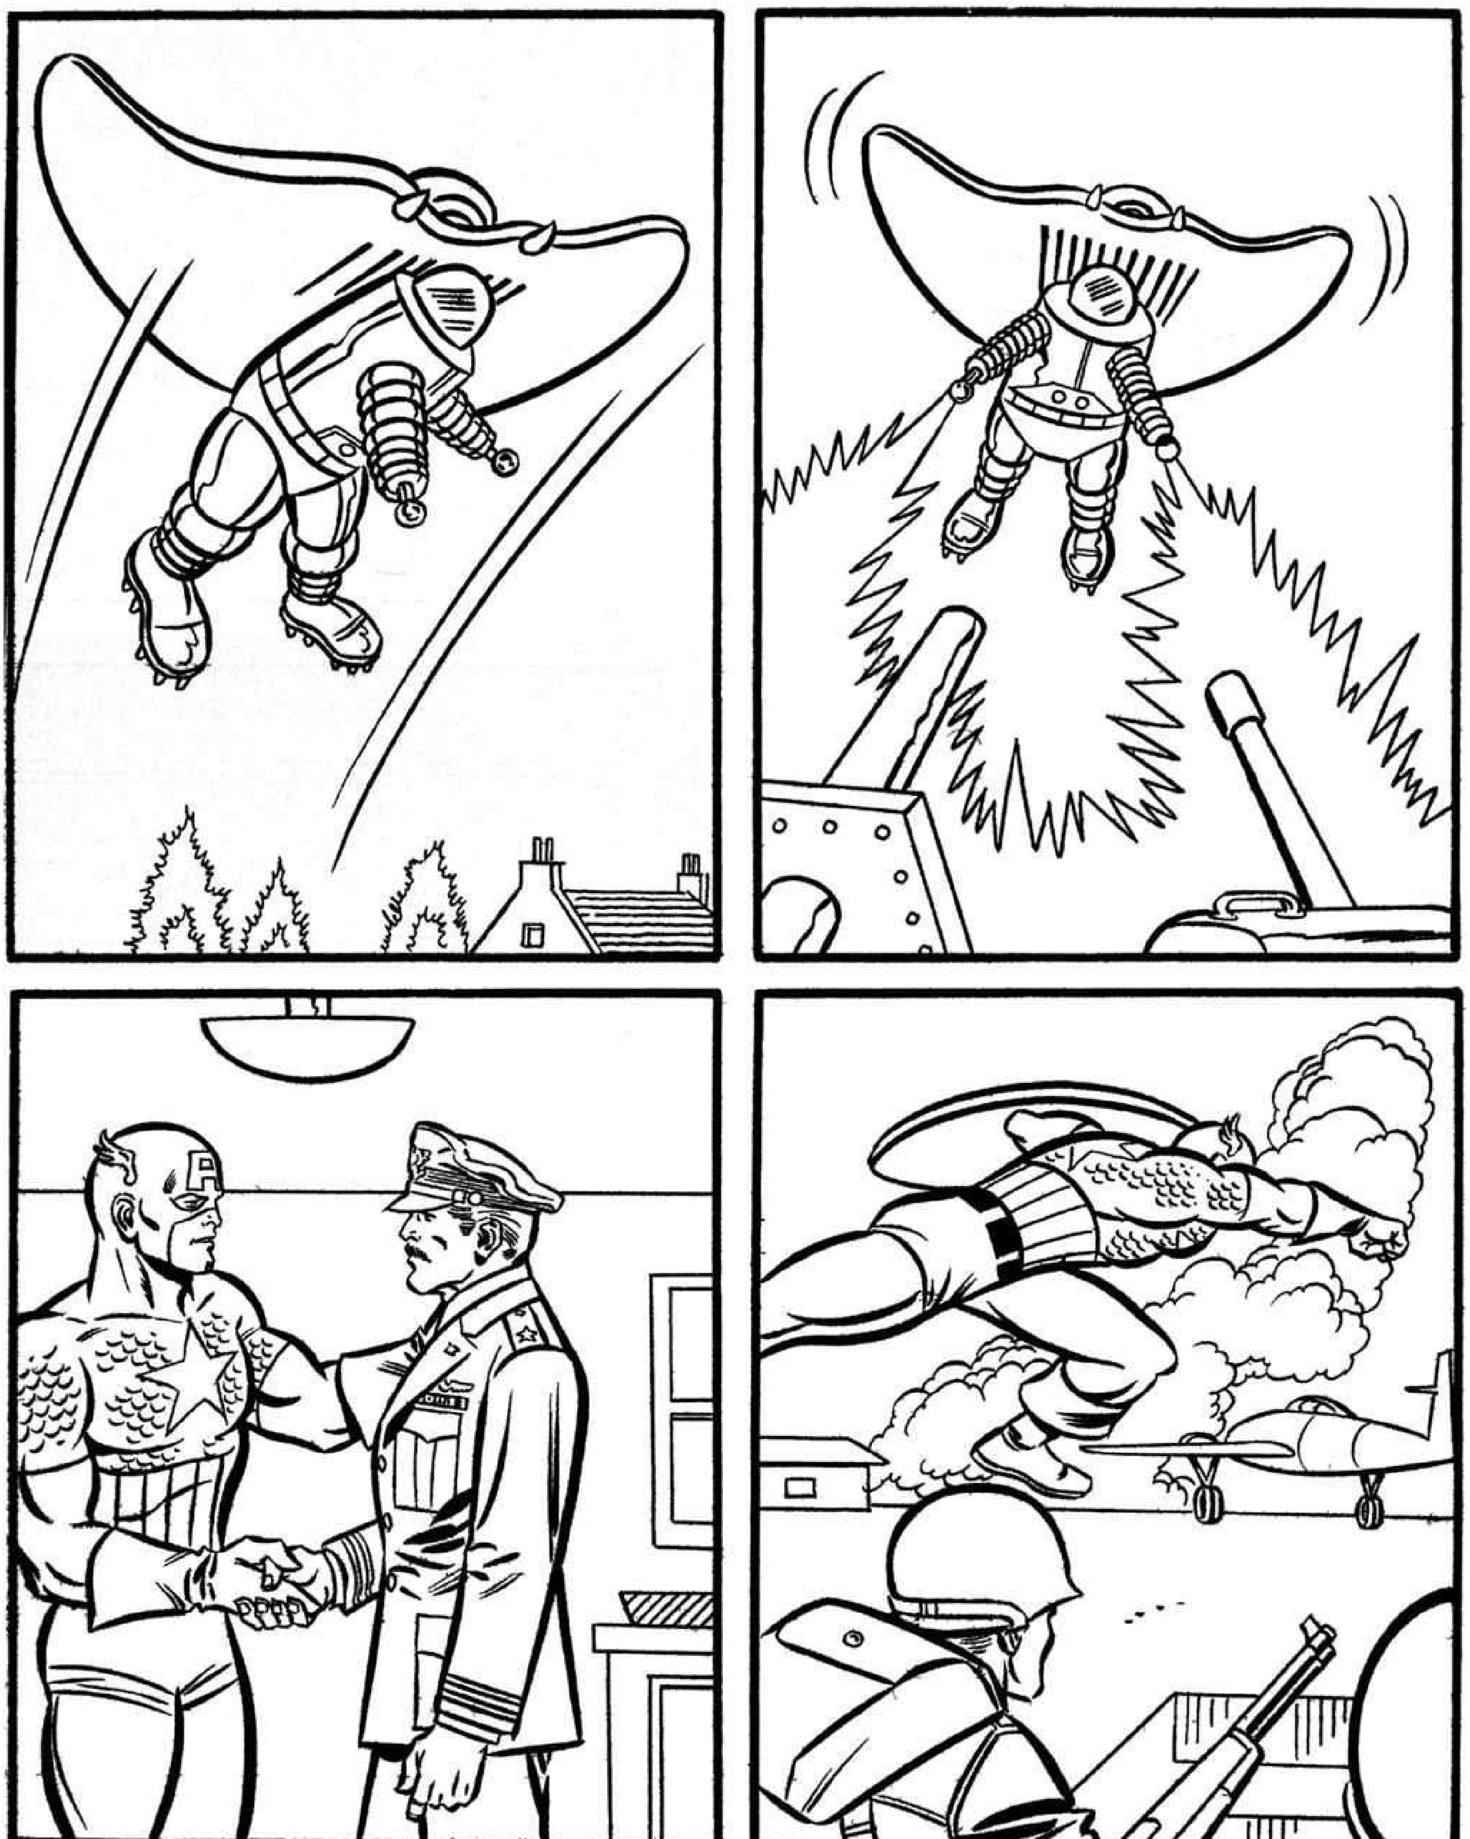

"The two Sleepers have found each other!
What will happen next?"

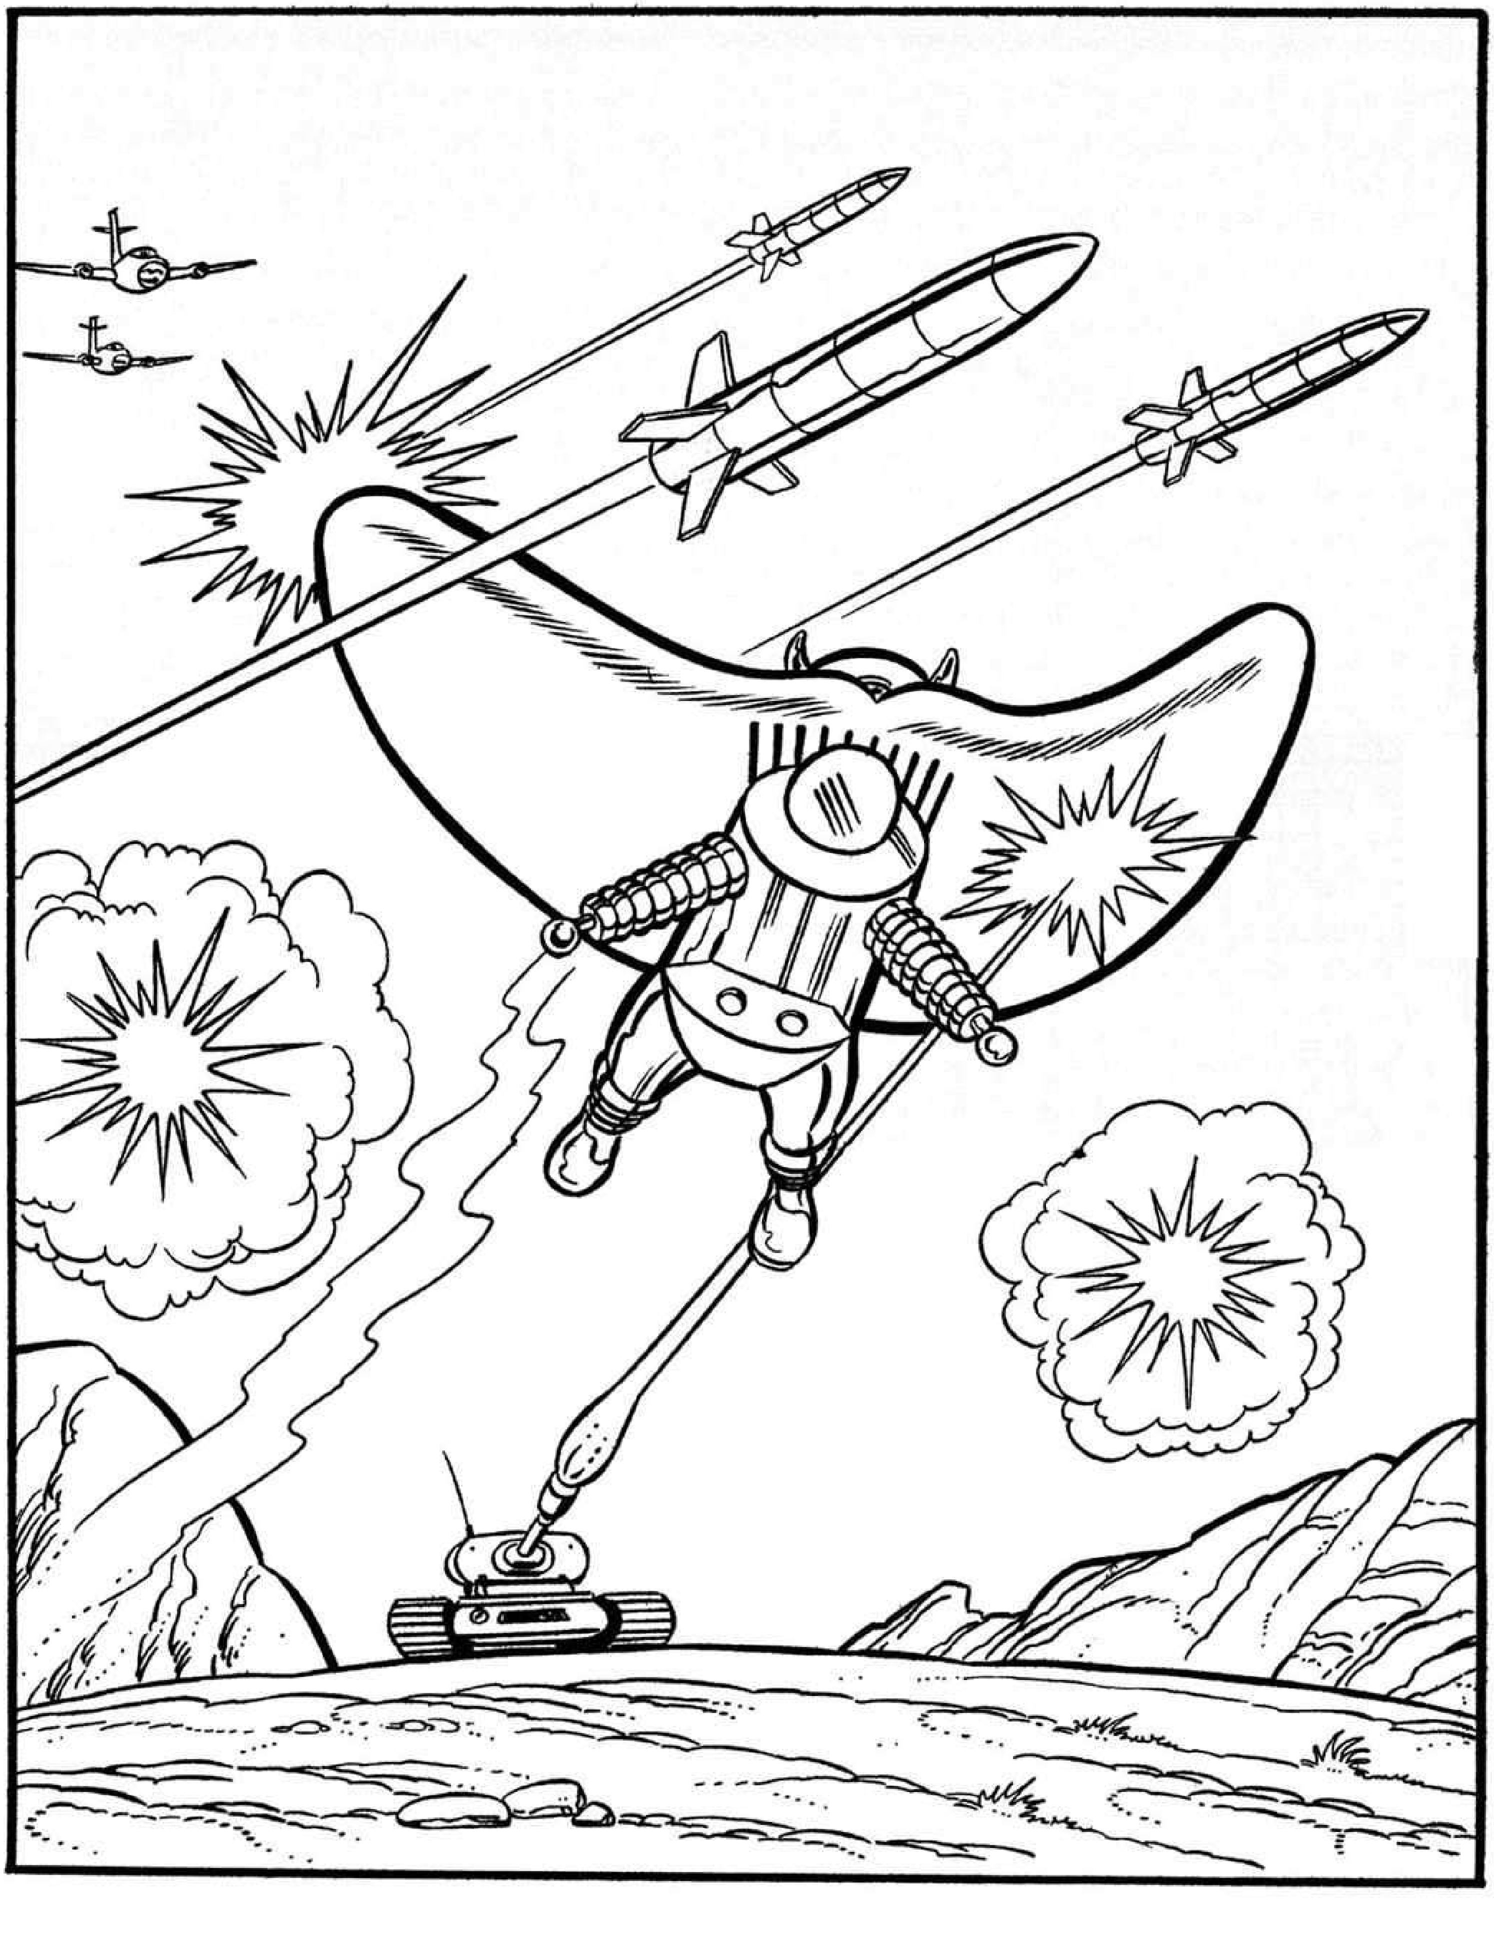

Cap's question is answered quickly.
The Army and the Air Force arrive on the scene—
just as the Second Sleeper swoops down low over the First Sleeper!

Then, they link together and the battle begins!

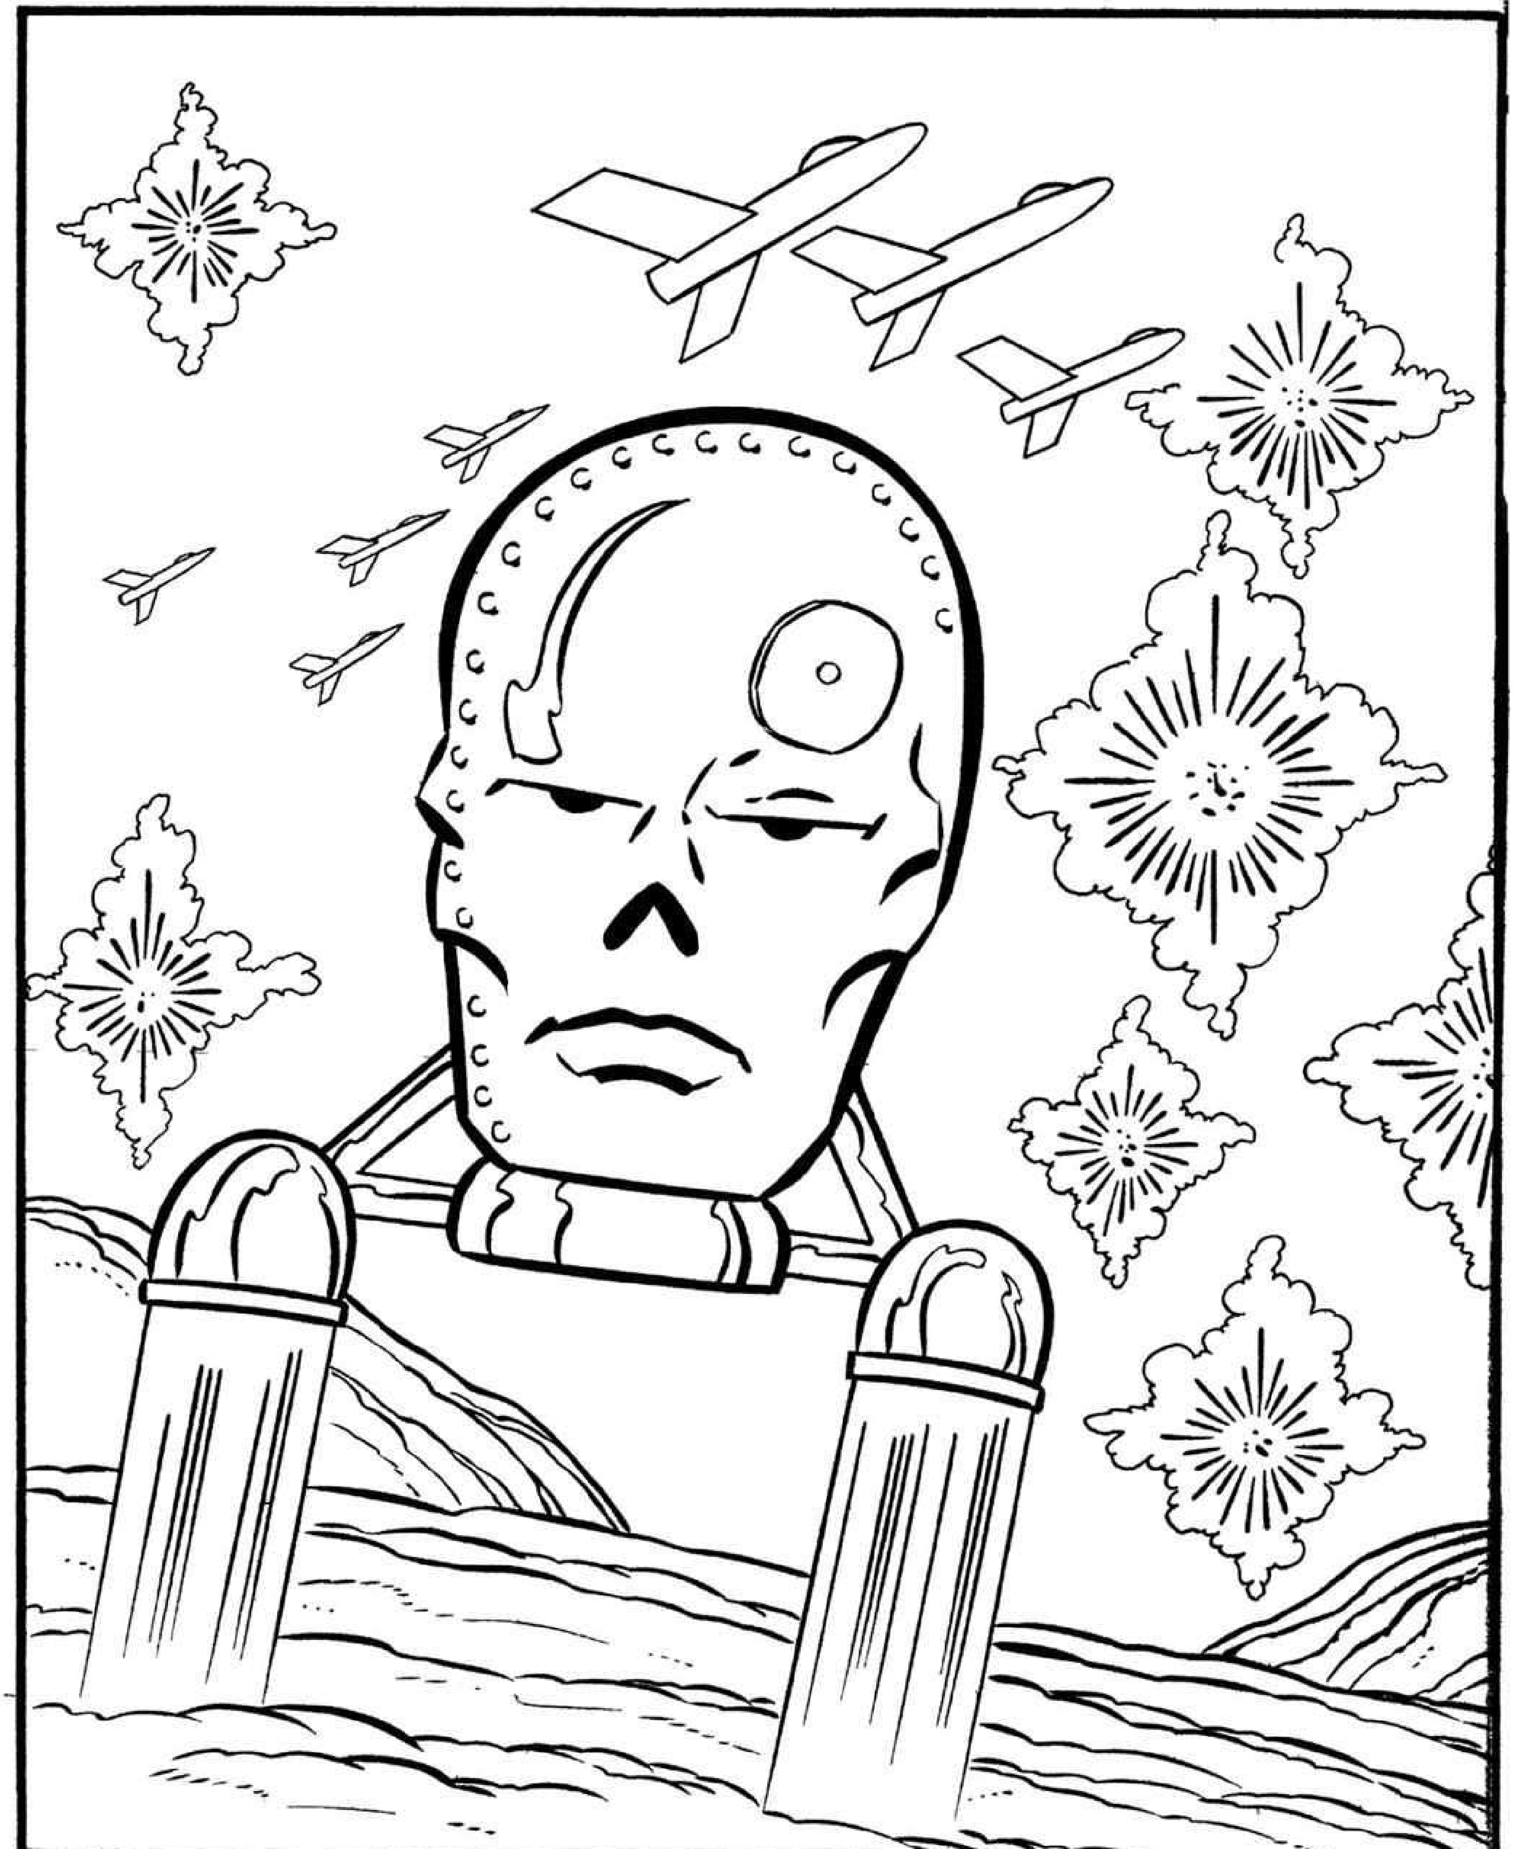

Meanwhile, Cap meets with the Armed Forces and agrees to make a last desperate gamble to defeat the sinister Sleepers!

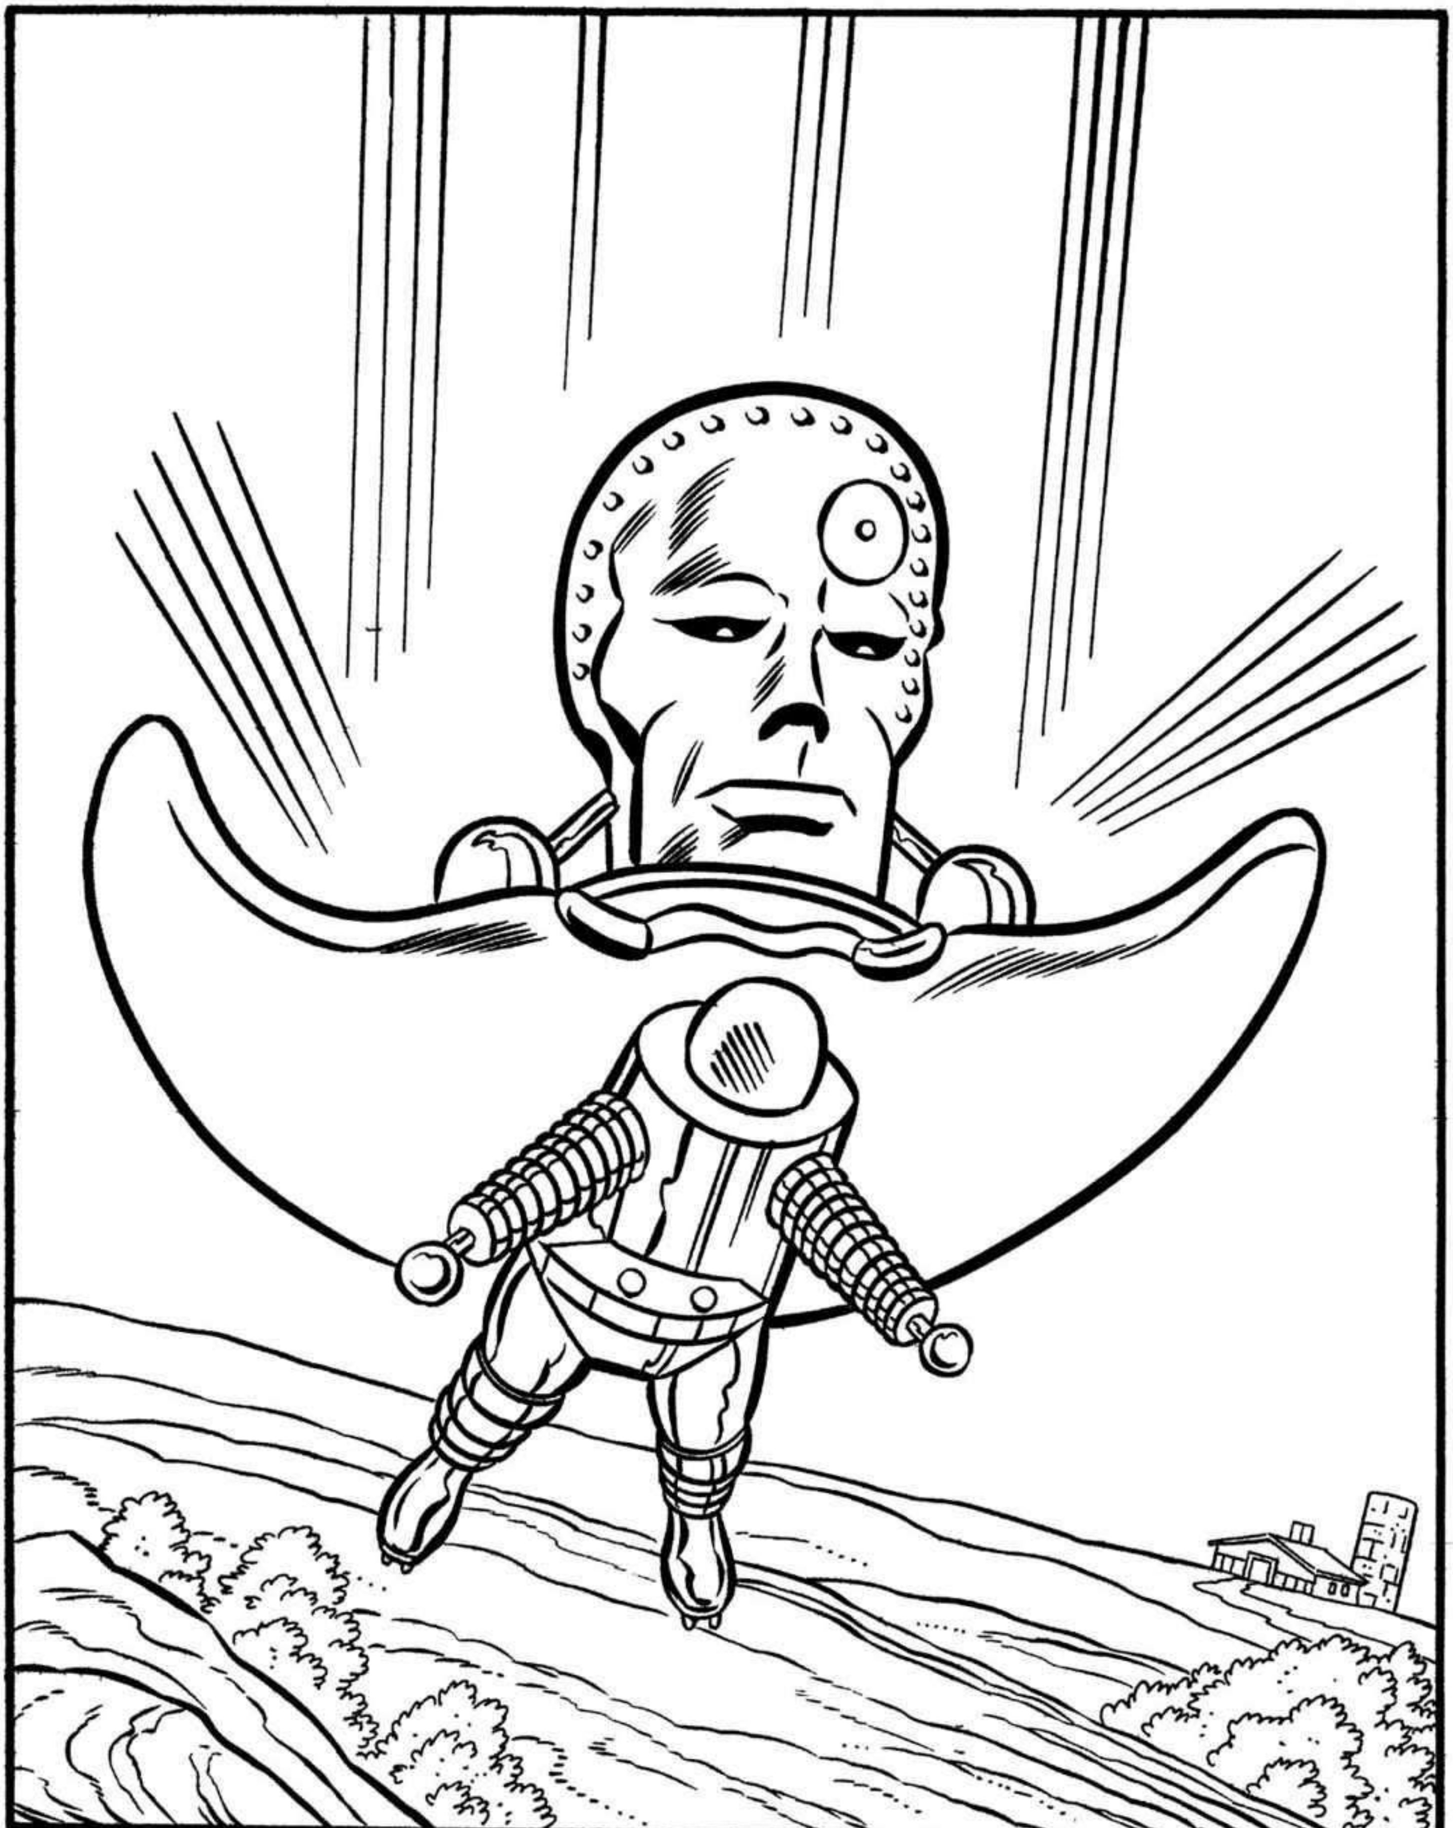

Nothing is able to stop the monster, which seems to be searching ... searching for the Third Sleeper!

A short distance away, in another small town,
yet another agent of the Red Skull is triggering
the release of the final Sleeper!

It rises and makes its way toward the other two Sleepers!

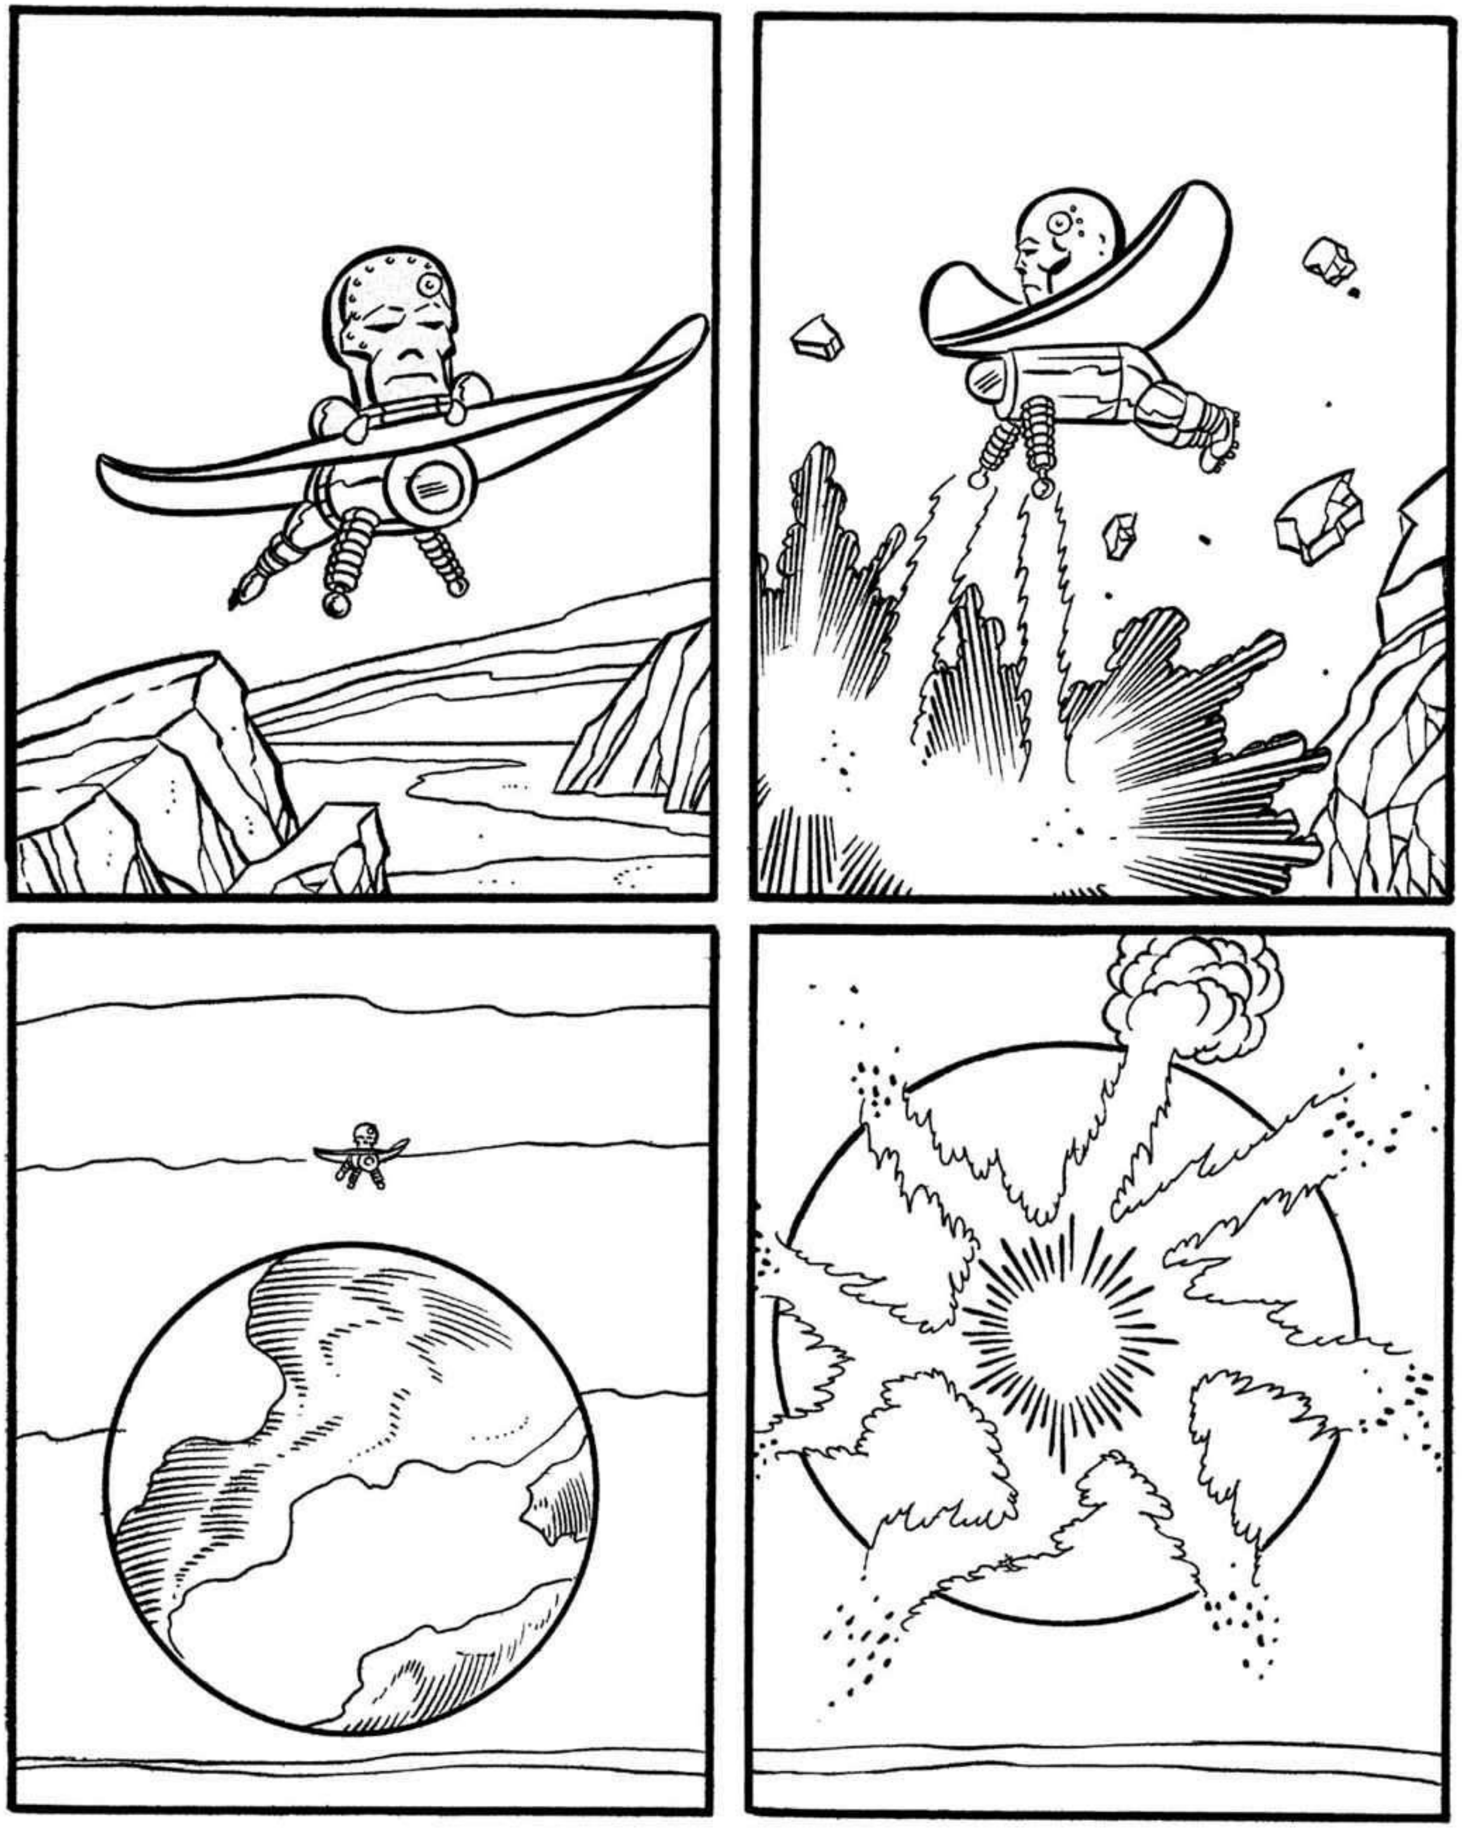

Then, it settles into place on top of them!
The Third Sleeper
is the brain—but now that the three are finally linked,
what is their purpose?

Aboard the Air Force fighter plane,
Captain America learns that the Sleeper is really an incredible flying bomb!

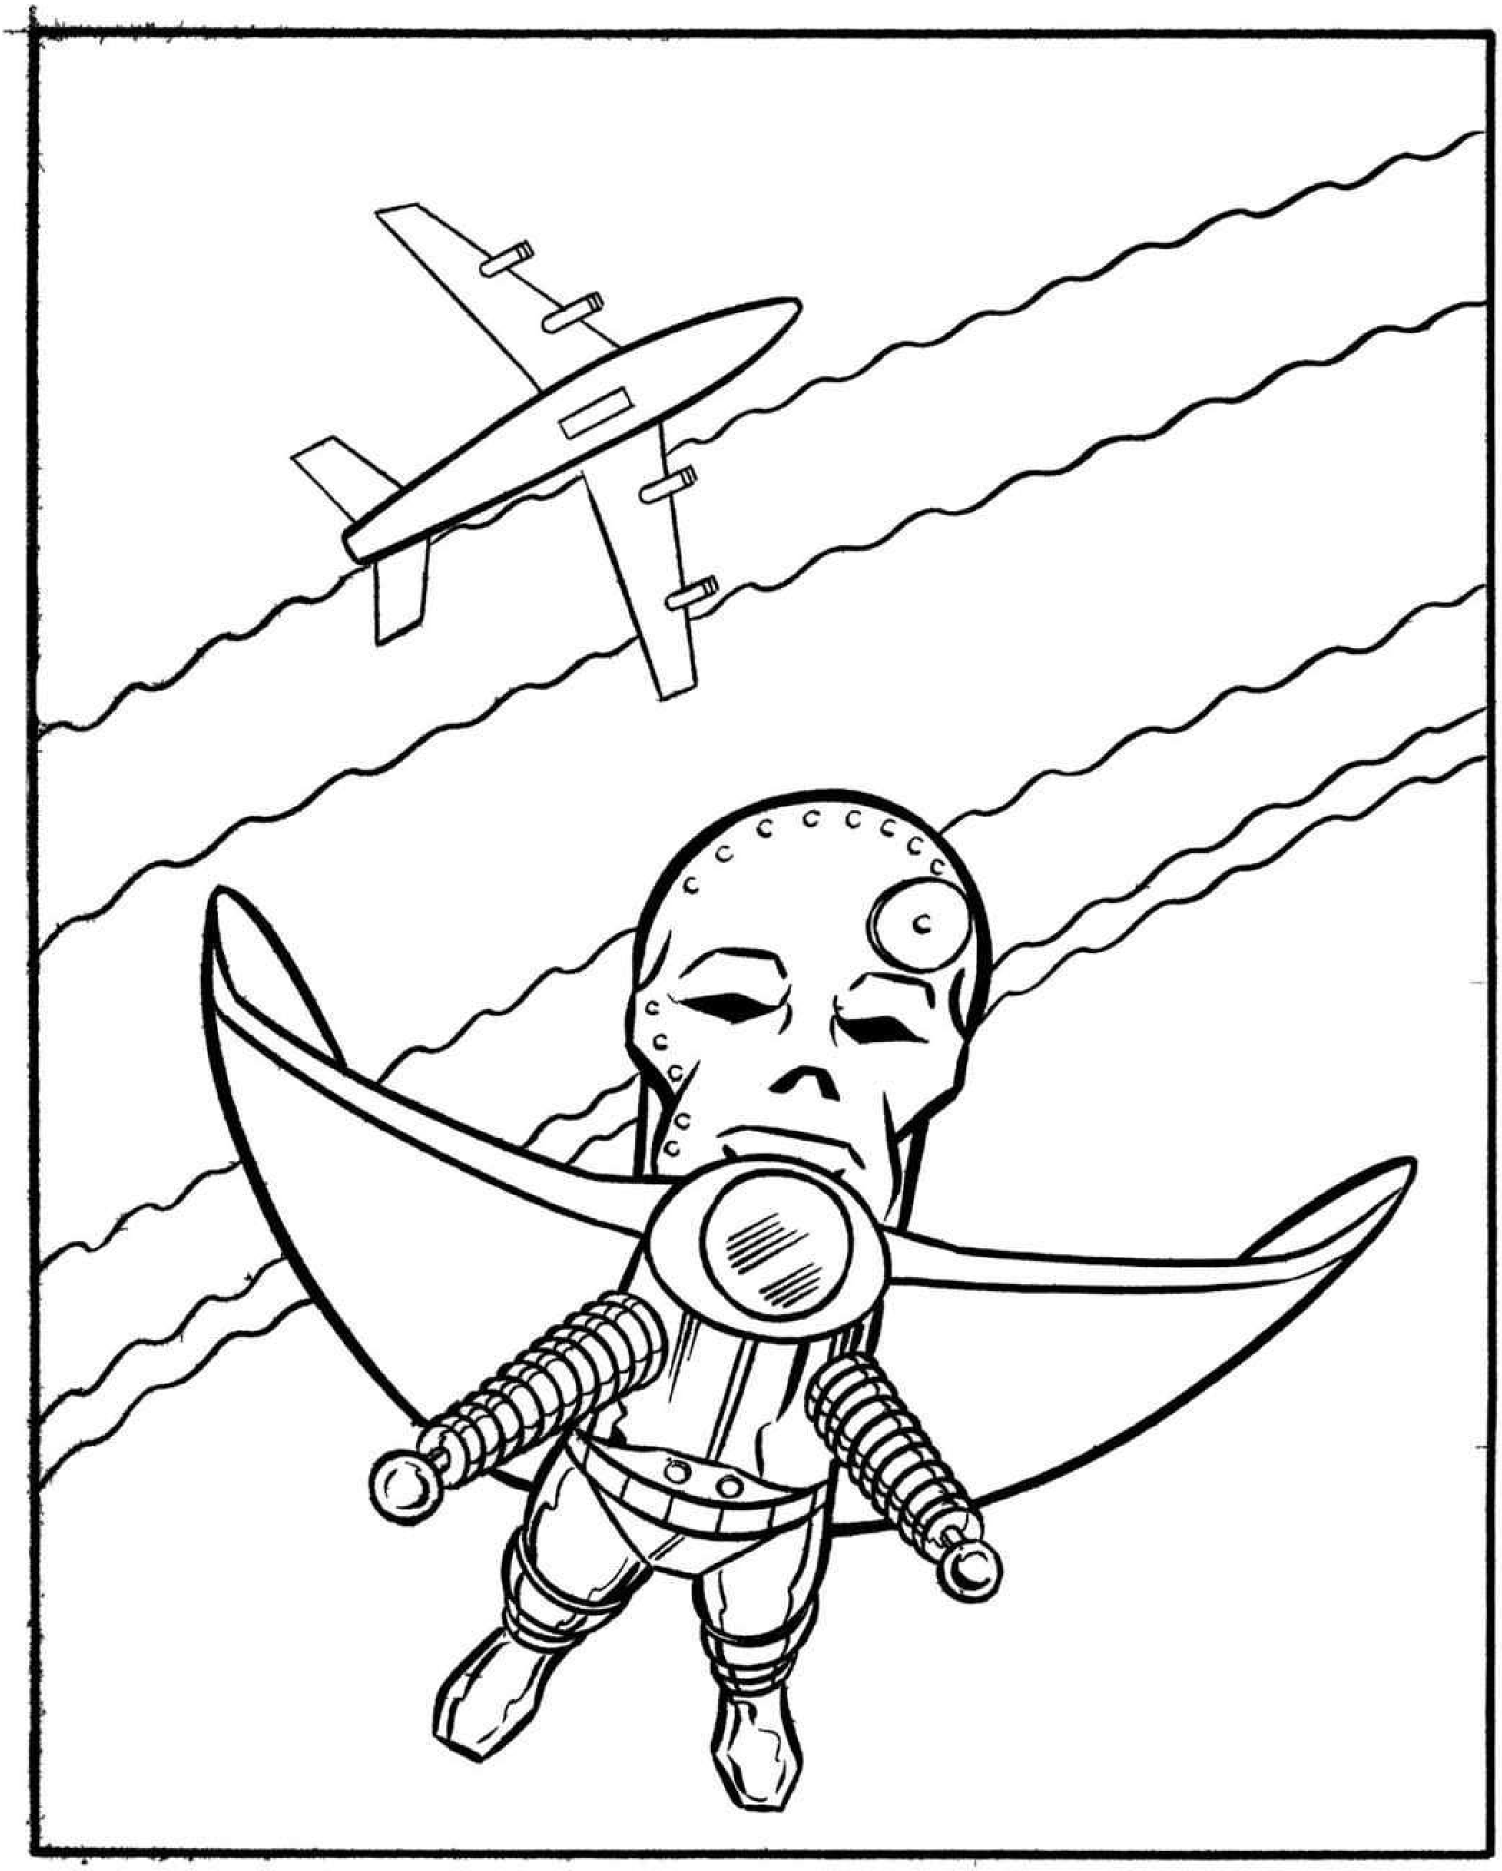

It is headed for the North Pole. Once there, it could melt the polar ice caps with its power rays and penetrate to the Earth's core itself!

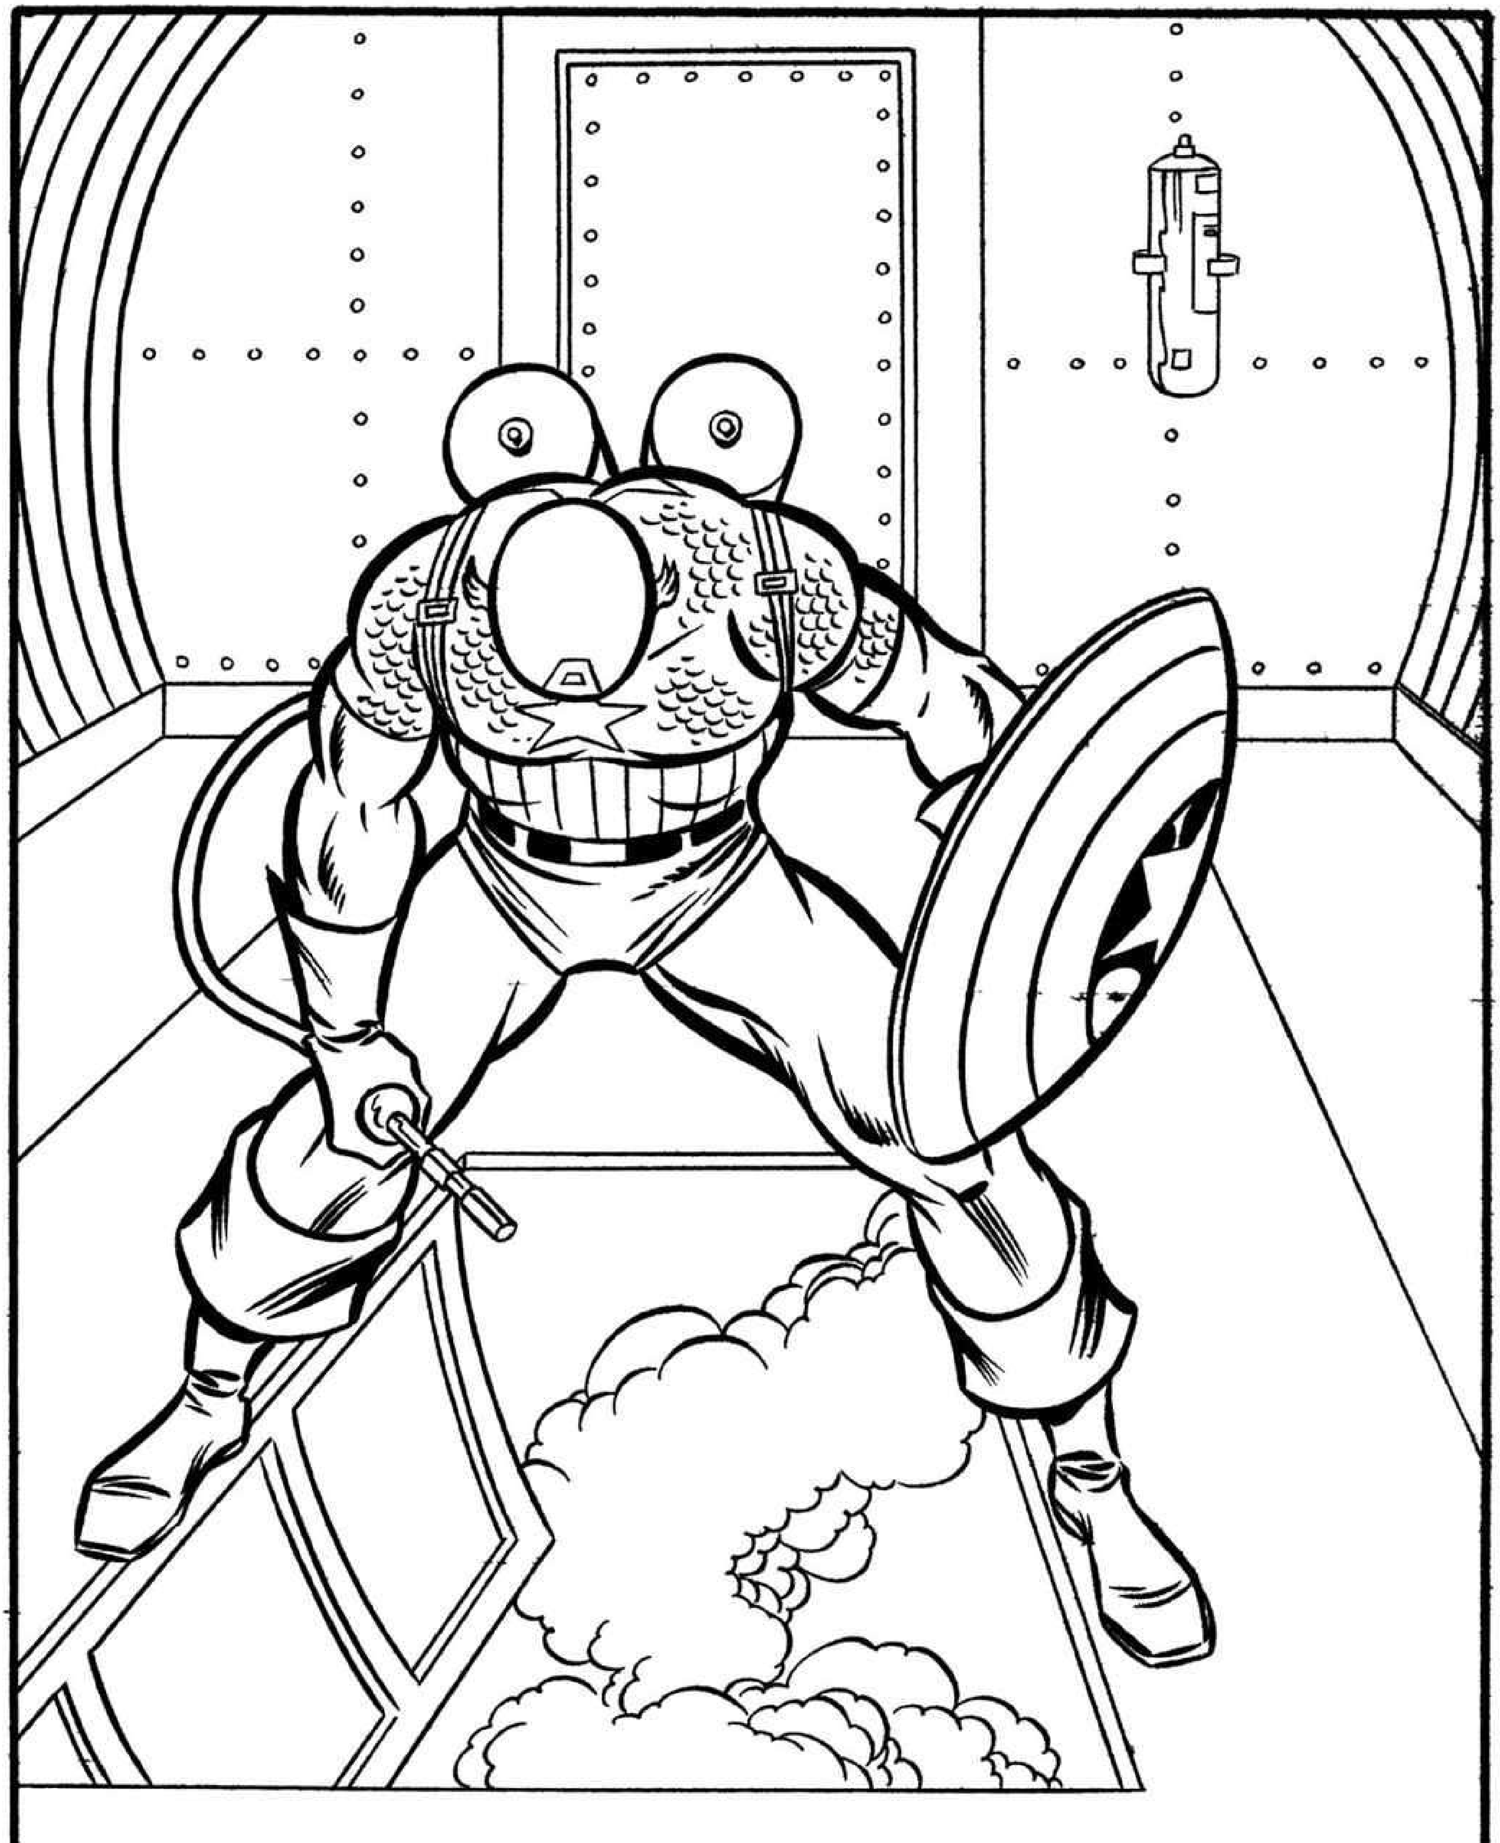

At the molten heart of the Earth, the Sleeper could explode like an atomic bomb!

It could destroy the world!

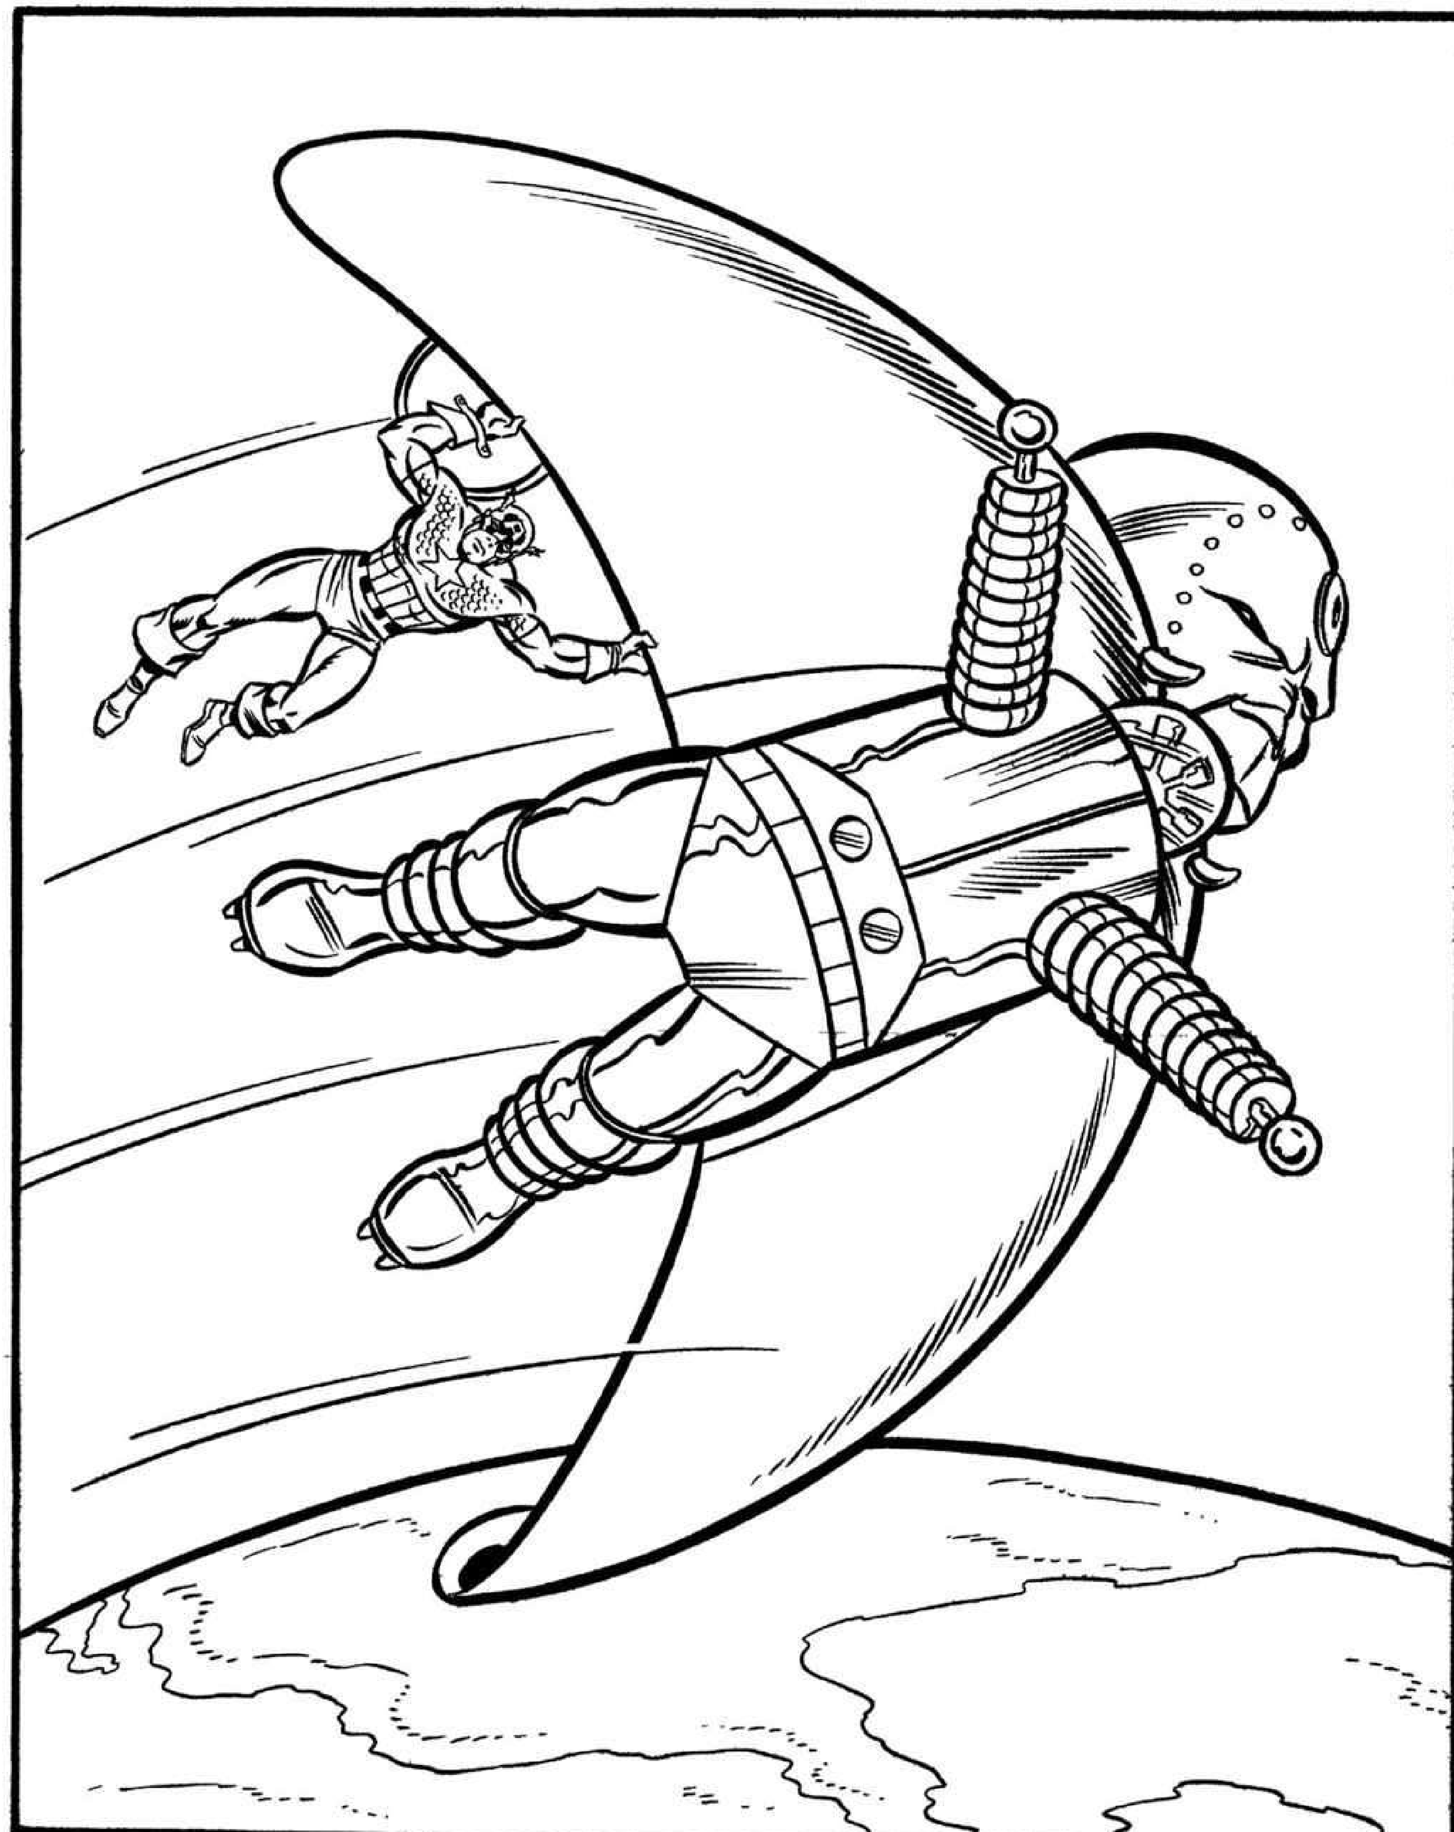

"It's weak spot is the bomb fuse in its head," the generals tell Cap. "If you can ignite it with a torch, you'll blow the Sleeper to bits!"

"I'll be taking my life into my own hands—but I'll do it! I'll risk my life to save the world!"

"Geronimo!"

"I've got to hang on—but the wind pressure is strong—almost sweeping me off!"

"I must reach the main fuse with the torch flame—
I must! There!"

"I did it! Now, all I need is time!
Time enough to get out of range while I still can!"

*"The Sleeper has been destroyed—and the world is safe again!
The world still belongs to the brave—
and the just—and the free!"*

Thanks to—Captain America!
